ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

FINAL

Vol. 105. No. 350. (75th Year) ST. LOUIS, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1953—18 PAGES PRICE 5 CENTS

17 LEGISLATORS AGREE TO WORK FOR PASSAGE OF EARNINGS TAX

Campaign for Special Session Gains Strong Support at Mayor's Meeting—Unanimous Indorsement.

(Picture on Page 3A.)

The city's drive for a special session of the State Legislature to extend the life of the important St. Louis earnings tax moved forward with strong support today, after 17 of the city's legislators unanimously indorsed the levy at a meeting with Mayor Raymond R. Tucker yesterday.

Tucker reported that four state senators and 13 representatives from the city agreed, without a single dissent, to support an earnings tax for St. Louis and to work actively for its passage.

"Their support will add more weight to the city's argument for a special session of the Legislature to continue our authority to collect this vital tax," he said.

Donnelly Seeks Assurances.

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, who has the Mayor's request for a special session under consideration, has been reluctant to summon the General Assembly back to work without assurances that St. Louis members of the Legislature are united for an earnings tax. City officials believe the results of yesterday's meeting answer the Governor's question on that matter.

Absent from the meeting at Hotel Jefferson were State Senators Harry J. Byrne, who died last night at his home, and Edward J. Hogan, and Representatives Harry C. Raiffie, Francis M. O'Brien, Walter V. Lay, John W. Green and Mrs. Jennie S. Walsh. The Mayor's office reported that Green had said he would support the city's revenue measure and several of the others, who were unable to attend yesterday's meeting, said they would call on the Mayor to discuss the problem.

Legislators present at the closed session reported Mayor Tucker "laid it on the line" about the city's urgent need for the $8,000,000-a-year earnings tax revenue, and warned that a serious breakdown in municipal services would result from the loss of the revenue.

Attending the meeting were State Senators Michael Kinney, Robert Pentland, David A. Hess and William E. Hilsman, and Representatives William Seifert, Joseph W. Beckerle, Daniel Curran, Frank E. Kostron, Joseph W. Martino, Robert M. Uxa, Leroy Tyus, Thomas A. Walsh, John P. O'Reilly, Eugene P. Walsh, John Griffin, John M. Lavin and Paul M. Berra.

Welfare Group Backs Plan.

The executive committee of the St. Louis Division, Missouri Association for Social Welfare, joined yesterday in the request that Gov. Donnelly call a special session on the St. Louis earnings tax.

Dr. Moyer S. Fleisher, president of the St. Louis division, told the Governor in a letter that the committee was interested in the matter because of its effect on health and welfare activities.

"It seems likely," he said, "that were the City of St. Louis to be deprived of the income from the earnings tax, the essential health and welfare services would, of necessity, be curtailed."

The city's temporary earnings tax will expire next April 1 unless extended by the Legislature in special session before then. If an extra session is not called, the city's important revenue measure could not be considered until the next Legislature meets in 1955.

Sheaffer, Who Tried to Fire Astin, Quits High Commerce Dept. Post

—United Press Telephoto.
CRAIG R. SHEAFFER

Fountain Pen Maker Reported Unhappy Since Losing Fight Over Additive.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Craig R. Sheaffer, who had much to do with the since-reversed firing of Dr. Allen V. Astin as chief of the Bureau of Standards, has resigned as Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

Astin was reinstated Aug. 22 in the Standards Bureau post, which he never actually left.

The Department of Commerce disclosed yesterday that Secretary Weeks had accepted Sheaffer's resignation, dated Sept. 15, "on the authority of the President." Sheaffer is expected to return to his fountain pen business in Fort Madison, Ia., but a spokesman for the company, expressing surprise, said it had not been informed of his plans.

Sheaffer's resignation was the second among high-level administration officials in a little more than a week. The first was that of Martin P. Durkin as Secretary of Labor Sept. 10.

In his letter of resignation, Sheaffer, 55 years old, said he had planned to remain in the Commerce post until next year. But he did not mention the stormy affair of the battery additive AD-X2, which led to Astin's resignation by request of Secretary Weeks.

(The United Press said Sheaffer was reported to have been unhappy ever since Astin was reinstated and the Bureau of Standards placed under the jurisdiction of Assistant Secretary of Commerce James C. Worthy. There were reports also, the U.P. said, Sheaffer had run into "roadblocks" in organizing the new business and defense services administration, designed to give business a "bigger voice" in the department.)

The Bureau of Standards tested AD-X2 and reported it had no value as a rejuvenator of electric storage batteries, such as those used in automobiles. A Post Office Department fraud order, denying use of the mails for promoting the product, was issued. The order was suspended and, on Aug. 20, canceled.

Sheaffer, then right hand man to Weeks, investigated the bureau's action. Weeks, charging that the bureau had not been "sufficiently objective" in its tests, requested and received Astin's resignation.

Sheaffer, at the time of the controversy, clearly believed that the bureau had not been objective in its treatment of AD-X2. He told the Senate Small Business Committee hearing that Astin was responsible and that the AD-X2 case was "one factor in many reasons" for Astin's ouster.

Then a storm of protest broke in scientific circles. Weeks first asked Astin to stay on in his $15,000-a-year job while a committee of scientists helped choose his successor. But on Aug. 22, more than a month before the committee was scheduled to report, Weeks announced he was restoring Astin to his post permanently.

Shift in Jurisdiction.

Weeks simultaneously shifted the Bureau of Standards from the jurisdiction of Sheaffer, assistant secretary for domestic affairs, to that of Worthy, assistant secretary for administration.

A new investigation of AD-X2 was undertaken by a committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

In his letter to Weeks, Sheaffer said that, although he had expected to remain until next year, he thought it was best for his successor to have "two or three months indoctrination" before Congress reconvenes in January. He promised continued support of the department and administration.

Weeks replied he was "sorry beyond measure that you find it necessary to leave."

First-Hand Crime Report.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—A report to the Cayuga county sheriff complained that a motorist got gasoline at a garage and drove off without paying. The garage is owned by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Dilalla.

BRITAIN TO GIVE U.S. A FILM ON ATOM BOMB TEST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (UP)—The British are going to present a 40-minute film of their first atomic bomb test to the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

The presentation will be made by British ambassador Sir Roger Makins in a ceremony Sept. 30. Makins may take the opportunitay to express again the official view of his country that the United States and Britain should work together in development of atomic weapons.

The two countries are forced by secrecy provisions of the United States Atomic Energy Act to work separately in this field, though each has techniques and information the other needs.

Because of this act British observers have been barred from about 40 United States atomic tests since 1946. American observers similarly were barred from the first British test in Australia's Monte Bello islands last October. They also will be barred from the new British tests to be held in Australia next month.

TOURING PRINCE AKIHITO ORDERED OFF PROPERTY

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Crown Prince Akihito of Japan was ordered off private property in a Westchester county community yesterday as a result of picture-taking by members of his party.

En route to Hyde Park, N.Y., the party stopped at the village of Shrub Oak. Some of the Japanese took snapshots of the prince as he strolled about.

A woman dashed out from a nearby motel and said, "You people get off here. Stop taking those pictures. If you don't, I'll call the police." The prince, surrounded by a security guard, laughed when it was explained to him what was going on. The party continued on the tour.

Earth Tremors in Cyprus.

NICOSIAS, Cyprus, Sept. 19 (UP)—A series of tremors, the first since the Sept. 10 earthquake that killed 40 and injured 100 persons, shook west Cyprus last night. One of the tremors knocked down several buildings damaged or weakened by the earlier quake.

Eisenhower Flying Back From Colorado, Ends 6-Week Vacation

DENVER, Sept. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower is flying back to Washington today ending six weeks of Colorado vacationing mixed with work. His plane, the Columbine, took off at 10:53 a.m. (St. Louis time).

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arranged to stop for a half hour in Chicago at the Glenview naval air station to pick up their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and his family. The major, his wife, Barbara, and their three children—David, 5, Barbara Ann, 3, and Susan, 1—will go on to Washington to visit at the White House for a few days.

At the Chicago airport, where his plane is due in mid-afternoon the President will greet delegations representing two Republican groups meeting in the city.

In the six weeks that the President has been in Denver, two major Government posts have become vacant—one through the death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson and the other through the resignation of Martin P. Durkin as Secretary of Labor. Announcement of a successor to Vinson may come next week, but White House sources said Eisenhower may need more time to pick a new head of the Department of Labor.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

DENVER, Sept. 19 — While President Eisenhower ostensibly has been vacationing here, he and his Summer White House staff have kept on the go.

Press Secretary James A. Hagerty released statistics yesterday showing, among other things, that the President put in 24 days at the Lowry Air Force Base White House office, one in New York, one in Washington, three at Pine, Colo., and seven at Fraser, Colo., that the Chief Executive had 152 visitors here, signed 111 bills passed by Congress, withheld approval of three, and signed 318 other documents.

The vacation White House switchboard, Hagerty reported, average 3025 calls every 24 hours, and an average of 500 letters have come in a day and 300 have gone out. In addition, an average of 2000 words of messages has passed between here and the Washington White House on a private teletype circuit.

DIRKSEN TEARS INTO TRUMAN, STEVENSON AT G.O.P. MEETING

Replies to Democrats' Charges — Calls Last Administration 'Riotous, Reckless, Scandalous.'

By TOM YARBROUGH
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—Saving the strongest medicine for the last part of a two-day conference of midwestern and southern Republican women here, Senator Everett M. Dirksen (Rep.), Illinois, answered three leading Democrats one by one today and tore into the recent Democratic Administration as "one of the most riotous, reckless, scandalous Administrations in the history of the republic."

Dirksen, the last speaker at a wind-up luncheon, used blistering language in replying to speeches made Monday by former President Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson and Senator Paul H. Douglas (Dem.), Illinois.

As the meeting was breaking up, President Eisenhower was scheduled to make a half-hour stop at a Chicago airport on his way back to Washington from a Colorado vacation, withut taking time to greet the women in person. They planned to send a delegation out to see him.

'Colossus on the Potomac.'

Dirksen reminded Douglas of a magazine article Douglas had written titled "Colossus on the Potomac," in which he told of the size of the Federal Government. Dirksen said the New Deal and Fair Deal "brought in the greatest assembly of mediocre talent and incompetence that has ever been assembled."

Dirksen said Stevenson was "witty, gracious and at his best" in his Democratic speech. Truman, he said, was "happy, debonair and big as life," and having made those observations he sailed into them with arms flying.

He had a good word, incidentally, for one Democrat — Senator Stuart Symington. Dirksen said "the RFC boys made mink such a scareword that the whole mink industry was affected," and then added: "What did the President do? He asked a Missourian—now a member of the Senate—and a very honorable man—to leave his post as Secretary of the Air Force and go in and clean up the mess." The reference was to Symington.

Assails Previous Administration.

Dirksen centered most of his fire on the previous administration. As for Truman's plea for a Democratic Congress next year he said, "no matter how lofty the plea, it is in fact a plea for a Democratic Congress with which to tie the hands of President Eisenhower in the middle of his term." He said that what a Democratic Congress did in Herbert Hoover's time was to "crucify the country on the altar of political ambition," and "it could happen again if Truman has his way."

Dirksen's bare-fisted manntr was reminiscent of his fierce attack on Thomas E. Dewey at the Republican national convention last summer.

He said Democrats maintained farm price levels "not by sound, durablt policies, but by war and inflation," and "if the New Dealers and Fair Dealers want to defend such a grisly program, I'm ready. When they make this the issue, they must answer how they separated the high prices from the young corpses. The farmers whose sons came back in wooden boxes may ask some questions also on this score."

Contrary Principles.

He quoted Truman as having told Democrats this week that Republicans "believe in a lot of contrary principles." "Indeed we do," Dirksen said, and then proceeded to introduce his next 16 paragraphs with the same phrase—"we are so contrary as to believe. . . ."

Samples: "We are so contrary as to believe that President Eisenhower is entitled to a full fair chance to undo and correct the mess which he inherited from Harry Truman. . . . That the man who captained the invasion of Europe—the biggest military undertaking in the history of the world—knows as much about national defense and national security as an obscure artillery captain from Independence — and maybe as much as that great strategist, Gen. Harry Vaughn."

Dirksen said Dean Acheson's policy as Secretary of State "was to wait, watch, pray, while the dust settled and young American blood continued to run."

Of former Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson, he said "his motto was " 'up and down'. As the deficit went up, the service went down. . . . It took nothing short of genius to lose $700,000,000 a year in that department."

He said Senator Douglas argued that the "Colossus on the Potomac" was the result of war. Then, "he should be reminded that every war in which this nation was engaged in the last 55 years happened in a Democratic administration." He remarked that Douglas's "sparkling adjectives are no match for the facts."

PRESIDENT WILL ADDRESS G.O.P. DELEGATES AT CHICAGO AIRPORT

Eisenhower Prevailed On to Talk During Stopover on Trip to Washington From Colorado Vacation.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—President Eisenhower will meet midwest Republican leaders today during a mid-afternoon stopover at the Glenview Naval Air Station on his return trip to Washington from his vacation in Colorado.

The President's visit will be the highlight of a two-day Republican sequel to a Democratic gathering here earlier in the week, which last night was described by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield as a "shabby spectacle."

Representatives of the regional meetings of Republican women and state chairmen will go to the airport to greet the President. He will speak there briefly from a specially constructed platform.

The President originally had been scheduled to stop here only to pick up his son, Maj. John Eisenhower, his wife and their three children, who have been visiting Mrs. Eisenhower's parents, Col. and Mrs. Percy W. Thompson at Fort Sheridan.

Prevailed on to Speak.

In view of the importance of the Republican meeting here, however, the President was prevailed on to alter his schedule to allow for a brief and informal speech. At Boston on Monday, the President is scheduled to make a full report on his Administration and reply to the acid charges leveled against it earlier this week by former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Delegates from the women's meeting here who will officially greet the President are Mrs. Ruth Thomas of Illinois, the new head of the regional G.O.P. state chairwomen; Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins, of Lake Forest, vice chairman of the citizens for Eisenhower and Nixon; Mrs. Jewel S. Rogers, a vice chairman of the Cooks County Young Republican organizations, and Mrs. Clifford Laws, of Springfield, president of the Federation of Illinois Womens Republican Clubs.

Edward F. Moore, Cook county Republican chairman, yesterday sent telegrams to ward and township committeemen informing them of the President's impending stopover and urging them to be on hand. C. Wayland Brooks, national committeeman for Illinois, said he expected about 5000 persons would be present at the ramp for the presidential visit.

Eisenhower Message.

Eisenhower had sent a message to the meeting here expressing certainty that the business of the party was being carried out "in the spirited tradition of our great political heritage."

"I am confident the results of the meetings will bring benefits of importance to the Republican party and the nation as a whole," the President said in his message.

Postmaster General Summerfield was the principal speaker last night at a dinner for most of the 1500 women from the Midwest, South and Rocky Mountain states.

As a former Republican national committee chairman and now a Cabinet member, Summerfield heatedly replied to criticism of the Eisenhower administration.

Referring to speeches made here earlier this week by top Democratic leaders, Summer-

PRINCESS DANCES HIGHLAND REEL AT BALL IN SCOTLAND

INVERNESS, Scotland, Sept. 19 (AP) — Princess Margaret danced a gay Highland reel last night at a ball that brought the Scottish social season to a glittering close.

It was the northern meeting ball and about a thousand persons crowded the approaches to the ballroom to get a glimpse of the princess. She wore a white dress with a sash of royal Stuart tartan.

In response to the crowd's shout, "We want Margaret!" she made a brief, smiling appearance on a balcony with Col. George Ross of Cromarty, her partner in the reel.

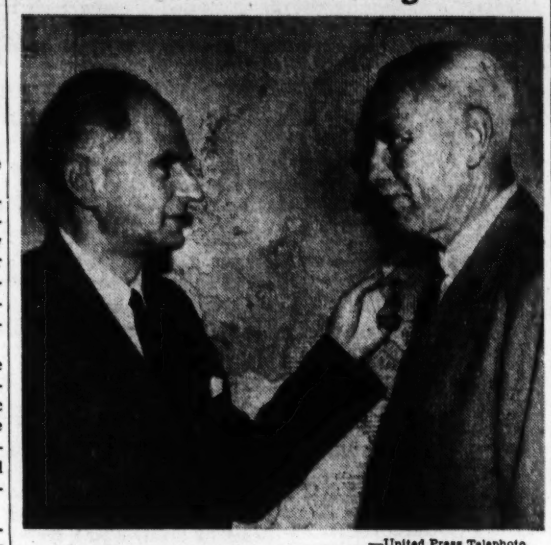

Margaret has been on vacation in Scotland with the royal family at Balmoral castle.

FORT ANN, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—The Campney brothers have made a killing on rattlesnakes. Since Jan. 1, Fred and Leander have collected $371 in bounties from the town clerk for 157 skins. Their nearest competitor has 11 snakes to his credit.

U.N. Delegate Seeking Asylum In U.S. Calls Poland 'Nightmare'

He Tells How He Eluded Guards, Reached Home of Old Friend.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Dr. Marek Korowicz, Polish diplomat who got his first look at America last Monday, is seeking political asylum here after fleeing from his country's Communist-dominated United Nations delegation.

"Life in Poland was a nightmare," Korowicz said yesterday.

The graying, 50-year-old Korowicz left Polish United Nations headquarters Wednesday. Pretending to be working on a document in the early morning hours, he eluded armed guards and slipped out of his midtown hotel to telephone an old friend from the Polish underground.

Safe in the friend's home, Korowicz, first alternate of the Polish delegation to the U.N., wrote identical letters to Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the U.N. General Assembly, and Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. secretary general.

The letters said:

"I have the honor of bringing to your attention that I formally renounce my membership in the Polish delegation to the Assembly of the United Nations.

"The members of the delegation, headed by Messrs. Naszowski and Katz-Suchy, do not in any way represent either the Polish nation or the people. It is thus absolutely impossible for me to collaborate with these representatives—not of my beloved country but solely of the Soviet regime in Poland."

Korowicz, author of some 20 books and former professor of international law at the University of Krakow, said he is unmarried and has only distant relatives in Poland.

On Thursday Korowicz sat as grim-faced as the rest of his delegation listening to a speech by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before the U.N. General Assembly.

Yesterday, Korowicz said he was deeply moved by Dulles's speech.

Later, Dulles smiled when asked for comment by reporters, then quoted from his U.N. speech:

"Our hope is that the Soviet Communist leaders, before it is too late, will recognize that love of God, love of country and sense of human dignity always

5 KNOWN TO HAVE SURVIVED B-29 CRASH AT SEA

3 Men Rescued, 2 More Sighted Off Georgia Coast — 16 Were Aboard Plane.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 19 (AP)—A B-29 Hurricane Hunter plane returning to Bermuda after passage of a tropical storm, crashed at sea about 200 miles east of Savannar, Ga., and five of the 16 men aboard were known today to have survived.

Three men were rescued by ships and two more were sighted bq one of the rescue craft which reported by radio "We will pick them up."

One of two rescued men on the vessel Seatrain Georgia was reported badly burned.

The other survivor on the Seatrain Georgia told rescuers that the plane developed engine trouble and nine men bailed out. The remaining seven "rode the ship in" as it was ditched at sea, he reported.

Another survivor was picked up by the steamship Nassau.

A great search was on for other survivors or wreckage. Six Coast Guard planes, nine Air Force craft and two Coast Guard cutters in addition to surface craft were making the search.

The ships sped to the area after three liferafts were spotted by searching Coast Guard and Air Force planes near the last reported position of the weather reconnaissance plane.

The missing plane left Hunter Air Force Base at Savannah at 2:14 p.m., yesterday, expecting to land five hours later at its home base, Kindley Air Force Base, in storm-tossed Bermuda.

It carried a 15-hour fuel supply.

Cost Guard headquarters in Norfolk, Va., first reported, at 6:25 a.m., that two rafts were seen, each with one man aboard, and a third was sighted bearing several persons.

Flares were sighted within 25 miles of the B-29's last reported position about 3:45 o'clock this morning.

WANTS QUESTION PUT ON AGENDA OF ASSEMBLY AS A SPECIAL ITEM

Vishinsky's Action Comes Amid Reports India Is Maneuvering to Revive Discussion on Conference Make-up.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 19 (AP) — Soviet Russia demanded today a quick United Nations debate on Red China's request for a round-table Korea peace conference.

A note from Andrei Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate, to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, asked that the question be made a special item on the U.N. Assembly yagenda.

(The United Press reported that informed sources said India is engaged in behind-the-scenes maneuvering in an all-out effort for a new debate in the Assembly on the composition of the Korean peace conference.)

Vishinsky based his demand on a note issued Thursday night which called the attention of U.N. member nations to Red China's request that Russia, India, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia be named to sit in the Korean peace conference as "neutrals."

The United States and its Korean allies oppose this.

Plans Policy Statement.

The Soviet document was accompanied by a notice that Vishinsky wants to present the Soviet policy statement Monday in answer to the newest United States pleas that the Russians co-operate by deeds to ease world tension. A new Soviet statement on disarmament is also widely expected.

Today's scheduled meetings were canceled because other delegations were not ready to speak. The Assembly pace will speed up next week with the Soviet answer and organization of the Assembly's seven committees to tackle the 72-item agenda.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Assembly president, said she hopes policy debate would be concluded by the middle of the week.

By the United Press.

India is planning an all-out battle for new debate on the composition of the Korean peace conference, informed sources said toady.

These sources said India was smarting from the United States campaign which led to its exclusion from the conference and that it would reopen the debate on a priority basis as soon as the General Assembly's main Political Committee begins meeting next week.

As the Assembly paused for the weekend, after two days of slow-moving general debate, India, with some support from Commonwealth members of the Allies who fought the Korean war for the U.N., stepped up its behind-the-scenes maneuvering.

Position of United States.

The United States position, expressed in a new message to Communist China and North Korea Thursday, stated that "the resolutions already adopted by the General Assembly as to the composition of the conference speak for themselves and there is nothing further to add on that subject."

The United States hoped, in the event it cannot block a renewed Korean conference debate, to delay the discussion as long as possible. This would give Washington a chance to attempt negotiations outside the U.N. with the Communists. That was the reason, observers believe, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sent his second prodding message to the Far East Reds as soon as the Communist formula for the conference had been put formally before the Assembly in a note from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

In Washington, meanwhile, informed sources said the United States may join its European allies in reassuring the Kremlin that the West is expanding its military power purely as a defensive measure.

Dulles told the U.N. assembly Thursday that the Russian and French people "expect, and they are entitled to," assurances against a repetition of devastation by Germany. The rearming of West Germany and use of its troops in the proposed European Defense Community is the core of the problem.

Already, European allies are emphasizing that EDC is meant to guarantee peace in Europe and will provide greater security for Russia as well as the West.

An Administration spokesman said this country is considering the possibility of following that lead.

Reich Veterans and Former Foes Play Gentle Game of Soccer

By DAVID M. NICHOL
The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1953.

HANNOVER, Germany, Sept. 19—Everyone agrees it was a remarkable happening, but not all of them are certain it was football. The occasion was a reunion of members of Field Marshal Rommel's Afrika Korps.

Someone suggested that a picked team of German veterans play a friendly soccer game with men from the British Seventh Armored Division, the "desert rats" of Field Marshal Montgomery's Eighth Army. About 10 years ago these outfits were cutting each other to pieces in the final phases of the North African war.

The result was a game that will go into the books as one of the politest, if not one of the most exciting, that has ever been played.

Bands from the British Rifle Brigade and from the German border guards opened the ceremony by playing their national anthems. Before the crowd broke up at the end of the game the bands were playing as one and the tune was "Lilli Marlene," the most popular of Germany's wartime songs. British soldiers demanded it.

Once on the field, the British captain was given a bouquet of flowers. If a man from either team fell or was tripped there were about four of his opponents to pick him up and dust him off. Several times they all shook hands. A British forward kicked wildly at the goal and was so obviously disappointed when he missed that the German goalie tossed the ball again to him for a second try. He missed that one, too. The crowd cheered.

Almost the only normal feature of the game was the shouts of the British soldiers in the stands. They stood up for their sovereign privilege of razzing the referee, a German who bent backward to be "fair."

Even the score was polite, a 2-2 tie.

The Germans were professional players and actual veterans of the desert fighting, but 10 years has slowed them down. The British were "national service" recruits, too young to have been in the desert and their youth was their advantage.

DULLES'S APPEAL TO REDS TO SHIFT STAND CRITICIZED BY PRESS ABROAD

Some West Europe Editors See Nothing New in U.N. Speech but Others Are Relieved by Moderate Tone.

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—John Foster Dulles's speech before the United Nations assembly outlining America's foreign policy aims drew criticism from west Europe's newspapers.

Some editors said the speech, no new suggestions for ending East-West tension. Others said it was moderate in tone.

There was no official comment from any government sources. Communist propaganda organs behind the Iron Curtain remained silent.

In the speech the United States Secretary of State called upon the Russians to change their policies and co-operate for world peace before it is too late.

In Paris, the independent Le Monde editorialized:

"Mr. Dulles is still convinced that right and God are on his side. That attitude lacks, to say the least, realism. It is doubtful that any negotiation can be undertaken (with the Russians) on the terms he lays down."

Le Monde added, however, the speech was received "with relief" because it was moderate in tone and because it did not lay down any ultimatums to Russia.

London Press Comment.

In London, the Daily Herald (Labor) declared that "we see no end to international tension if America insists on prefacing negotiations with sweeping demands."

London's mass circulation pro-Labor Daily Mirror did not carry an editorial, but a dispatch by its diplomatic correspondent said that the speech "was, on the whole, conciliatory—both to the Reds and to America's anxious allies."

The Daily Worker, London's Communist newspaper, didn't carry an editorial either, but its diplomatic correspondent wrote: "Though his speech was full of pretensions that the American government 'desired peace' and was ready to 'explore ways' to end tension, he made not one definite suggestion to advance the settlement of any international question.

"Instead he demanded that the Soviet Union should change her policies and threatened her with prolonged enmity if she did not."

In Oslo, the Morgenposten said that Dulles "did not bring anything new into the world situation . . . His speech shows no development of the United States foreign policy since President Eisenhower last April delivered his important speech, answering the appeasing tones from the Kremlin."

'Nothing New,' One Says.

The only other Oslo paper that commented was Verdens Gang, which also said there was "nothing new" in the speech.

"It was a moderate and restrained speech," the paper said. "While the United States Foreign Minister previously—both before and after the truce in Korea—sometimes has used expressions which must have had a negative influence on the Russians, and partly aroused the disapproval and concern of the Allies."

In Sweden, the Liberal Stockholms-Tidningen expressed disappointment at Dulles's speech. It said he "didn't make any new contribution to the debate and he presented no constructive proposals that could conceivably facilitate a solution."

"But maybe Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky will come up with something new in the Assembly sooner than expected," the paper said. "Dulles has given him a free hand."

dollars he called "a monument to what spenders can do when they work at it."

Another luncheon speaker was Douglas McKay, Secretary of the Interior, who was content to spend most of his time telling about the work of his department rather than send up political rockets.

"This meeting in Chicago," he said, "coming as it does a few days after that of the minority party, give us an opportunity to demonstrate to the country that the Republican party is truly united and virile."

No Giveways, He Says.

McKay took the defensive against Democratic charges of federal "giveaway" programs by saying: "You can be sure, and I want to say this most emphatically, that we are not planning to give away or permit any one person or any group of persons to walk away with any of this nation's resources."

He dwelt on his department's recently stated power policy, which encourages more private and less federal enterprise in the development of hydro-electric dam projects. "I found in the department a strong belief that the Federal Government had the exclusive right to develop the country's water resources," he said. "That to my mind is a monopolistic viewpoint."

McKay said Democrats had "shoveled out tons of propaganda designed to impress on the minds of everyone exposed to it, that the Federal Government and the Federal Government only, was authorized, competent and able to build a hydroelectric plant on any or all of the hundreds of the rivers in the United States. In fact, the mimeograph machines of the reclamation bureau, in some cases, were busier than bulldozers on the projects. We have changed that."

The Cabinet officer threw some of Stevenson's words back a thim, quoting him as having said in a speech in Oregon last year, about power development, "where private enterprise can and is available to do the job, I think it should be left free to do so. But were private initiative is incapable of, or for any reason fails to meet the legitimate needs of the people for electric power or anything else, then I beleive the Government should step in."

Then McKay asked: "Where does that leave those who scream 'giveaway'? And so we come to Hell's Canyon. The Stevenson statement fits the Hell's Canyon situation like the paper on the wall."

River Development.

Development of the nation's rivers is a job so big "it will require the efforts of the state and local groups working as partners with the Federal Government.," McKay said. "The Federal Government expects to bear its full share in resources development, and so far as water development is concerned we will undertake large multiple purpose projects that for one reason or another are not within the capacity of the other partners."

Turning to Indian affairs, McKay said "our main objective is to get the Federal Government out of the business of administering Indian affairs as rapidly as this can be done without doing a serious and lasting injustice to the Indian people. Specific timing and the method of approach will vary from tribe to tribe and from place to place."

How to Win Election.

Before the luncheon, which was the final event of a two-day political program, the women spent the morning listening to women speakers. One was Mrs. Clara Aiken Speer of Kansas City, Mo., a member of the Missouri Legislature. Giving advice on how to win an election, she said "I am not sure that my own experience in campaigning will be of great help to others. I have never had opposition in the primary and I live in a Republican district." In a more positive vein she said, "I follow my own convictions in legislative matters and do not yield to pressure groups . . . at all times I hold myself in readiness to speak to small groups of any kind when requested."

She said she got on the Republican ticket "in the first place partly because no one else was interested in it at that time. I have tried to hold my unopposed place since, by earning it."

Miss Marian Smith of Little Rock, Ark., co-chairman of the National Federation of Young Republicans, gave the women a startling statistic: "Our control of the House of Representatives in the Eighty-third Congress could have been lost if 2720 votes in four districts had not been Republican. Think what that means out of 63,000,000 votes cast, had 2720 people voted Democratic instead of Republican, control of Congress would have been in the Democratic party." That was another signal to work hardest in the so-called marginal districts, where victory was won or lost by less than 5 per cent of the vote.

Miss Smith said "the trend of youth to the Democratic party has been challenged and checked."

JEWISH LEADER NOT RED

VIENNA, Sept. 19 (AP) — Edgar Kenner, a Jewish leader in Romania, was erroneously identified Thursday as a Communist in a story about Communist suppression of Jewish leaders behind the Iron Curtain.

Kenner was reportedly sentenced to 16 years in jail on charges of organizing an "underground" movement. Through a transmission error in an Associated Press dispatch, Kenner was described as a Communist leader instead of a community leader, his correct designation.

Tickle Has Him in Stitches.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19 (AP)—When his wife tickled Octavio Givadnadic in the ribs last night, he had nothing to laugh about. He was shaving with a straight-edge razor which sliced down his chest. It took 13 stitches to close the wound.

Democratic Women End Session In Intra-Organizational Fight

Outstate Delegates Charge Effort by St. Louis Clubs to 'Perpetuate' Control in Ruckus Over Amendment.

The Missouri Federation of Women's Democratic Clubs closed its twenty-second annual convention at Hotel Jefferson yesterday with a hot intra-organizational fight, which has become a trademark of the ladies' political meetings.

The ruckus this time was set off by an amendment to the by-laws permitting officers to be eligible for re-election. Outstate Democratic women were in a huff about it, charging the amendment had been sponsored by the St. Louis clubs to "perpetuate" their control of the state organization.

After extended wrangling and oral hair-pulling, which caused many of the delegates to miss their luncheon appointments, the amendment was adopted 251 to 53. When the smoke of battle cleared and the ladies reassembled later in the day, Mrs. Margaret Butler, Democratic committeewoman of St. Louis's Fourteenth Ward, was re-elected president of the federation, the first woman to succeed herself in that office.

The atmosphere of short tempers was catching. Some of the St. Louis Democratic women were upset because Mayor Raymond R. Tucker failed to sponsor a reception for the delegates. Instead, the reception was held yesterday in the office of Sheriff Martin L. Tozer in the Civil Courts Building, where punch and cakes were served to several hundred visitors.

The Mayor's office explained that Tucker was unable to play host to the women because he had previously arranged to meet with city legislators on the earnings tax problem.

Other new federation officers elected on the same slate with Mrs. Butler yesterday included Mrs. Theresa Donohue, Jefferson City, first vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Dagley, Kearney, second vice president; Mrs. Fred E. Mann, Springfield, third vice president; Mrs. Charles Sprinkle, Shelbina, fourth vice president; Mrs. Hal Hunter, New Madrid, fifth vice president; Mrs. Edward Roche, St. Louis, re-elected corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lorraine Ruppel, Aurora, recording secretary; Mrs. E. E. Hailey, Arrow Rock, re-elected treasurer, and Mrs. Effie Estes, Kansas City, auditor.

DULLES AID SAYS REPORTS ON EDC ARE ENCOURAGING

LUXEMBOURG, Sept. 19 (AP)—Livingston Merchant, assistant United States Secretary of State for European affairs, said last night he was greatly encouraged as to eventual ratification of the European Defense Community treaty after hearing from American envoys to the six EDC nations.

"I think it is going through," Merchant after a session here with the United States Ambassadors to France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg—the six countries in the unified Army project.

The two-day meeting continued today. In the discussions interest centers on France and Italy, where there appears to be most opposition to the European army treaty.

In reply to a question, Marchant said he had no reason to think Italy would demand a settlement of the Trieste dispute with Yugoslavia before acting on the EDC plan.

VIENNA, Sept. 19 (UP)—American diplomats stationed in the Soviet Union, Germany, Austria, and the Iron Curtain countries will meet here next week to evaluate Communist policy since the death of Joseph Stalin.

THREE OF ITALY'S ENVOYS RECALLED FOR CONSULTATION

ROME, Sept. 19 (AP)—Italy announced last night its ambassadors to Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey have been recalled for consultations.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the talks will concern "new developments in the Balkans." Presumably Italy's dispute with Yugoslavia over Trieste will be high on the agenda, although the spokesman declined to say so.

Italy still is awaiting an answer from the United States, France and Britain to Premier Giuseppe Pella's call for a plebiscite to settle the Trieste question.

Italy "is informed" the Allies are consulting each other now, the spokesman told a news conference. Earlier the Cabinet unanimously backed Pella's proposal for a five-power conference, including Yugoslavia, to prepare for a plebiscite.

ROME, Sept. 18 (UP)—Premier Giuseppe Pella's government approved an amnesty program yesterday that would spell freedom for 500 Communist and Fascist political prisoners jailed after World War II.

French President Withdraws Recognition of Andorra Chiefs

ANDORRA, Sept. 19 (AP)—France's President Vincent Auriol, acting as co-prince of this tiny Pyrenees nation, told the Government yesterday that he no longer recognizes its President and Vice President.

Auriol sent the message through his viguier (envoy) in the capital here to the president of the council, 73-year-old Francois Cairat.

Auriol declared Cairat and Vice President Roc Rossell had been guilty "of a very evident lack of good faith" in negotiating a problem which has created tension between Andorra and Auriol, as representative of France, for the last three moths.

Andorrans regard the move as one of the most critical in their more than 700 years of independence.

The ostensible reason for Auriol's drastic step was that Cairat and Rossell have refused to call a meeting of the 24-member Andorran General Council to act on a protocol which would guarantee French citizens in Andorra the same rights as Andorrans now living in France. It would also prohibit Andorra from continuing the practice of taxing imports.

Andorra, one of the smallest nations in the world, with a population of less than 8000, is probably one of the most durable. It is situated on the crest of the Pyrenees mountain chain between France and Spain and is sealed off from the outside world by peaks soaring up to 10,000 feet. Its isolation is completed for six months of the year by snow drifts.

Andorra belongs neither to Spain nor to France but to the descendants of the Spanish Bishop of Urgell and the French Count de Foix. The vagaries of history have turned over the count's legacy to the president of the French republic.

In World War II it was famous as an underground railroad for smuggling Allied soldiers out of France into Spain. Since the war it has become a tourist paradise and on the side, with almost as much economic importance, a haven for smugglers. Tobacco is the chief contraband.

Soon after Andorra refused to give Auriol permission to set up a radio station which would compete with the powerful Radio Andorra, the pride of the little country, France retaliated by imposing a 1000 france ($2.80) visa fee on all persons entering Andorra. This has practically bankrupted Andorra.

Cairat, who has been re-elected to his job five times, is to be given a vote of confidence by the General Council on Monday.

BROWNELL SAYS REDS SEEK SCORN FOR U.S. COURTS

Aim Is to Goad Country Into Dropping Defendant's Safeguards, He Warns.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. said today there is a deliberate Communist campaign "to instill in our citizens contempt for our judicial process."

Contrasting the short cuts of "justice" behind the Iron Curtain with the American practice of insisting on defendants' rights, even though trials are delayed and technical points aruged at length, the Attorney General said the United States must never betempted to curtail the safeguards.

Actually, he said, it is a prime objective of the Communists to goad the United States into just such action, so that this might be used to further an over-all campaign to discredit the American way of life.

In an address before the closing session of the National Conference on Citizenship, Brownell discussed in detail the long series of trials in Soviet satellite countries of persons accused of crimes against the state. He said these had been marked by long secret detentions, exhaustive questionings in private, denials of bail, strange actions by defendants once they appeared in court, and the apparent lassitude of so-called defense attorneys.

'Essential Safeguards.'

"These satellite trials," he said, "demonstrate what happens when procedural safeguards are not afforded to an accused and why we deem our safeguards so assential.

"Many people may find it difficult to understand why we afford to Communists here liberties and procedures which they deny to all persons in all countries where they have seized control. But the Communists hope that by their tactics they will make us so impatient with our procedural safeguards that we will abandon them. They are counting on this."

Brownell said he was aware that Communist effort had succeeded in stirring some criticism in this country of long trials, the long legal delays, the multiple appeals and the bonds granted. Some annoyance was expressed, he said, at the conduct of such cases as those of the American Communist leaders, of former Government girl Judy Coplon, of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

In contrast, he said: "In not one of the trials in Communist countries have I been able to discover a single instance in which an accused was released on bail after arrest.

Question on Counsel.

"Whether any of them had the benefit of counsel during this period, I do not know. So far as the record shows all of them were held incommunicado for long periods of time. What happened to them during this period we can only surmise from what followed.

"Since every one confesses, it comes as no surprise that every one without exception is found guilty."

Brownell asked:

"What is defense counsel doing during the trial? Nothing but sitting in the court room as a specator so far as the records of these trials show."

"The reason the Communists are able to put on these Hamlet-like performances is because they deny to any accused every procedural safeguard known to the law designed to insure a fair and just trial," the Attorney General continued.

"I can say only three things about the Communist system—it is swift, it is certain and we want no part of it."

SOVIET'S TOP MEN ARE RIVALS, SAYS VOICE OF AMERICA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Voice of America declares the naming of Nikita S. Khrushchev as secretary of Russia's Communist party points up "two situations extremely dangerous to the security and permanence of the Communist regime."

The United States overseas broadcasting service said in a program beamed to the Soviet Union yesterday that Khrushchev, now No. 2 man in Russia was "rewarded with the top party post at the very same time he confesses that the program of (farm) collectivization which he helped carry out was a total and crushing failure." Khrushchev was a leader in the forced collectivization of Russian farming.

"This serves to remind us," said the Voice of America, "that the struggle for personal power in the Kremlin is still on, for the role of party secretary has long been a steppingstone to absolute power in Soviet history."

Premier Malenkov, the Voice added, "cannot help being suspicious of a rising Kremlin figure. And Khrushchev . . . may not rest until he has tried for top place himself—that is, if Malenkov doesn't liquidate him first."

Benson Says He Will Not Let Farmer Be Squeezed by Prices

He Tells Plowing Contest Audience Administration Will Do All in Its Power to Enhance Returns to Tillers.

AUGUSTA, Wis., Sept. 19 (AP)—Ezra Taft Benson told farmers today he did not "become Secretary of Agriculture to sit idly by wringing my hands and let the farmers be squeezed by lowered farm prices and high fixed costs."

He said in a speech prepared for delivery at the national plowing contest that the Eisenhower Administration, as it seeks improvements in farm programs, has (done) and will do everything in its power to enhance farm prices in 1953-54, using the implements at hand."

Benson had said in advance the speech would be one of the most important he ever made. (Benson's address will be carried on the Post-Dispatch radio station, KSD, in a rebroadcast at 7 o'clock tonight.) The speech came after Democrats, meeting in Chicago this week, had criticized G.O.P. farm policies and after the Secretary had conferred with President Eisenhower at the summer White House in Denver.

Benson said he would assure farmers that both the President and he "are determined to do all within our power to protect and improve the living standards of farm people of this great nation."

Confidence of Future.

Farmers can "look forward with confidence" in the Eisenhower Administration, he said.

He led up to his statement on his own attitude by saying, "it is time to speak bluntly and plainly on my position."

He said that when he became Secretary he held the view he should not sit by while farmers were squeezed and that "I hold it now and I will continue to hold it."

"You are not looking down the abyss of the thirties," he said. "We are in the fifties and have tools and are fashioning other tools to build a sound economy."

The Administration's help, he said, will inelude "whatever parity proposals meet the test of the exhaustive study of the farm problem now under way by the nation's farmers, the Department of Agriculture and Congress."

Benson described as "nonsense" charges by political opponents that the Administration is "talking rather than doing, studying rather than acting," to help farmers caught in a squeeze between high production costs and declining farm prices, or facing drouth and other emergencies.

The records show, he said, that the Administration has used all the legal tools available to bring about stability and to help farmers caught in distressing situations.

He said the Administration had succeeded in halting a "deep drop in farm prices which already was under way when we took office." He said that during the last 12 months of the Truman Administration, farm prices had declined from 113 to 95 per cent of parity. He said the Eisenhower Administration had held prices steady at 93 and 94 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, designed to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Benson expressed confidence in ability of farmers, farm organizations, his department and Congress to come up with long-range farm programs that would be more successful than present ones in stabilizing agriculture. The latter, he said, give farmers too little rather than too much.

No 'Benson Plan,' He Says.

"Is there going to be a Benson plan?" He asked and then answered with an emphatic "no."

The Brannan plan, for subsidizing farm prices, was proposed during the Administration of President Truman by then Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan. It was violently opposed in Congress and by some farm organizations and never adopted.

"As long as I hold this office there will never suddenly blossom a plan, secretly arrived at," Benson said. "There will be proposals openly arrived at, openly discussed and openly developed in full co-operation with your farm organizations, your land-grant colleges, and your Congress."

He repeated previously expressed views that future farm programs must protect farmers, freedoms, be financially sound, and geared to use of farm production rather than storage under Government price supports.

U.N. DELEGATE WHO FLED CALLS POLAND NIGHTMARE

Each Case Must be Tested.

Dulles added that American policy was in favor of granting asylum, but that each case must be considered separately and in conformity with the law.

(The United Press said Washington officials said the United States will grant political asylum to Korowicz. The State Department, which has received a letter from Korowicz requesting asylum, said it will "consider" his request but immigration officials noted it is "the custom not to deny asylum to bona fide persons who are in the country and seek asylum.")

Korowicz is the fourth Polish national to flee to the West in the last six months. Two Polish jet flyers and a Polish interpreter in Korea previously sought and gained asylum in the United States.

Korowicz made his formal appeal for asylum in the offices of Radio Free Europe, operated privately by the National Committee for a Free Europe, Inc.

Chance Came 'Suddenly.'

He told how his chance came on Sept. 1, when he was "suddenly" asked to go to New York with the Polish U.N. delegation.

He was surprised at the offer, he said, because he was a non-party man, but added: "I told them I'd be delighted to go."

Korowicz said he never even told his closest friends of his idea.

"You never know who's listening," he said, "you can't trust anyone."

What the Polish people needed, he said, was "the true news from abroad" to combat Communist propaganda.

He said dissension was rife in the Communist satellite states since Russian Premier Stalin died, and that 95 per cent of the Poles were opposed to their Communist rulers.

"I am very happy to be free in the free world," he said. "For the first time in seven years I have been able to say what I truly think. . . . I shall again have my freedom of religion."

Korowicz is a Roman Catholic.

What the Polish diplomat had to say was transcribed and broadcast by Radio Free Europe over 25 transmitters operating on six frequencies.

An RFE spokesman said Korowicz's message to Iron Curtain countries was a "saturation broadcast . . . that can't be jammed."

Last night the Polish delegation, asked for comment, issued the following statement:

"Mr. Korowicz recently expressed a desire to visit acquaintances in this country. Since the Assembly committees were not yet at work, he received a few days leave. He was expected back next Monday.

'Not Acting on Free Will.'

"Under these circumstances his statement to the press gives reason for a serious anxiety that he is not acting on his free will and has no freedom of movement."

Korowicz said that in World War II he was with the Polish army in France. Afterward, he resumed his career as educator and writer in Poland.

Last Sept. 6, Korowicz recounted, he was informed that he was to go as a member of the Polish delegation to the U.N.

"At first I was completely taken aback," he said.

He pleaded ill health. Then he pointed out he did not speak Russian. Each objection was brushed aside.

"I then told them," Korowicz continued, "that I don't drink vodka, and, as far as I know when I meet with members of the Russian delegation I will have to drink with them because the Russians consider people who do not drink false, unreliable and having something to hide."

Korowicz was told to pretend to drink when with the Russians.

"At this moment," Korowicz went on, "I understood that at last the unique opportunity to escape from under the Russian Communist yoke for which I had been waiting so long had arrived."

13 ALLIED P.O.W.S FREED; HELD BY FORCE, SOME SAY

Charge Contradicts Red Contention That They Had Refused to Return Home.

PANMUNJOM, Sept. 19 (AP)—Twelve South Koreans and a Turk were freed today by the Reds and some of the ROKs said they were held against their will, a flat contradiction of the Red story that all 13 originally had refused to return home.

There were no Americans in the group of 13, but the South Koreans said they had seen some Americans at Kaesong, in a special camp for about 320 Allied prisoners the Reds say refused to go home. The Reds said about 20 of these are non-Koreans but have not said if any were Americans.

United States officers had expected some Americans might be included in the Saturday delivery after the Reds said Friday they would release "10 or more" P.O.W.s without revealing the nationalities.

This was the first delivery of Allied prisoners whom the Reds say have changed their minds and decided to return home. The Allies have sent back 15 Red prisoners who reversed their earlier stand against repatriation.

The regular exchange of prisoners willing to return home ended two weeks ago. Those remaining in captivity declined repatriation.

Charge Made by ROK.

Lee Choo Bok, a 20-year-old South Korean labor corps worker who was captured in August 1951 while working for the United States Third Division, said most prisoners still held by the Reds are forcibly detained.

He said some voluntarily elected to stay in Communist North Korea. Lee said these included men who co-operated with the Reds in prison camp.

He asserted the Communists held him against his wishes—while telling the Allies he refused repatriation—because he was "unco-operative."

Another South Korean, Kim Sang Bong, estimated the number of Allied prisoners at Kaesong at about 400, including Americans.

The freed Turkish soldier, Cpl. Kepebir Cavit of Ismir, was taken to the United States 121st Evacuation Hospital at Seoul by helicopter. He was not immediately available to reporters. At Panmunjom he told an American officer who spoke Turkish he was "sick."

The South Koreans were taken to the Thirty-sixth Republic of Korea Army hospital in Seoul.

They are scheduled to be taken to Yoncho island off the southern tip of the Korean peninsula where they will be screened ideologically.

Freed ROKS Going Home.

Some 7000 South Korean soldiers who returned in Operation Big Switch are on Yoncho island now. They are to begin returning to their homes Monday.

The Communists indicated, meanwhile, that they would turn over the "unwilling" Allied prisoners to Indian custodial troops in the demilitarized zone next Thursday. Previously the Reds had been expected to turn over the Allied P.O.W.s Sunday. There was no immediate explanation for the change.

The huge delivery of anti-Communist prisoners to Indian-guarded stockades in the demilitarized zone carried through its tenth day with the United Nations turning over almost 2000 more Chinese captives.

PLAZA BOND ISSUE FIRMLY INDORSED BY NEGRO PAPER, THE AMERICAN

Weekly Says Opposition Is Not Way to Fight Race Barriers—Three Educators Speak for Project Over KSD.

The St. Louis American, Negro weekly newspaper, strongly indorses the plaza bond issue proposal in its current issue.

"The St. Louis American is indorsing the $1,500,000 plaza bond issue to be voted upon Sept. 29.

"This key civic project is absolutely necessary for the development of St. Louis beyond a slum-burdened community. It is a beginning project—others and vaster ones are to follow. This beginning must be made, and made with this bond issue opportunity.

"The St. Louis American is not unmindful — and in its 25 years has never been unmindful nor unspoken about the brash discriminations and unfair projects that have been conceived and executed on the old jimcrow basis. There are such problems and bias practices still to be guarded against in the immediate future of St. Louis's expansion and slum clearance projects.

Opposition Shortsighted.

"What is needed is a continuing, month-after-month guarding and contesting for all the basic rights as the city advances. Opposition to the bond issue vote on Sept. 29 is neither constructive nor an assuring way to remove the jimcrow barriers that some shortsighted citizens would continue in St. Louis's growth.

"There is open evidence that St. Louis has made major gains over jimcrow in the past seven years — more than any other metropolitan community. On this steady record of removing the jimcrow signs on many fronts the St. Louis American believes that the plaza bond issue (an initial move) should be wholeheartedly supported by all citizens who want St. Louis to progress."

The bond issue would finance development of a three-block park linking Aloe and Memorial Plazas, and pave the way for redevelopment of five and one-half blocks immediately to the north with a $20,000,000 housing project financed by private capital.

Advocated by Educators.

Three St. Louis educators urged passage of the bond issue in a panel discussion broadcast last night by Post-Dispatch Station KSD. The speakers were Philip J. Hickey, superintendent of instruction for the St. Louis public schools; the Rev. James E. Holfich, superintendent of Catholic schools of the St. Louis archdiocese, and Leonard Dierker, superintendent of Lutheran schools. Frank Eschen, KSD director of special events, was moderator.

Stressing the fact the bond issue would not mean an increase in taxes, Father Hoflich pointed out that the housing project eventually would bring in far more revenue in taxes than is now received from the blighted property it would replace.

Hickey said delegates to educational conventions here frequently comment on the contrast between the beauty of Aloe and Memorial Plazas and the unsightly areas separating them.

"The first impression visitors get of St. Louis as they leave the station is not a favored one," Dierker said.

The educators announced that material on the bond issue has been provided for classroom use in all three school systems in order that all the facts might be available to students and their parents.

Eschen pointed out that the ballot to be used on Sept. 29 will be the simplest yet devised for an election of this kind. The voter who favors the bond issue simply places an X in the box opposite "Yes." Formerly it was necessary to scratch "No" in order to vote for such an issue.

The bond issue would bring no increase in the tax rate, Samuel B. Murphy, an attorney and State Representative from St. Louis county, emphasized in a talk to the Civilian Club at Hotel Statler yesterday.

The city would gain more than $2,000,000 in revenue over a 30-year period as a result of plaza redevolpment, he pointed out, contrasting the low tax yield from property in the currently blighted area with the greatly increased return that would be provided by seven 12-story modern apartment buildings.

Indorsed by Optimists.

The Optimist Club of St. Louis indorsed the bond issue yesterday after hearing former Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann sound an outspoken warning against continued decay.

"Another 25 or 30 years of progressive decay and there won't be any city of St. Louis worth having," he bluntly asserted in a luncheon talk at Hotel Statler. "There perhaps will be an industrial center with people living aroud the periphery, that's all.

"Where is the spirit of St. Louis? Perhaps we shall know on Sept. 29 when the voters will decide whether the city will go forward or just drift along. If the bond issue does not pass, you might just as well put the whole urban redevelopment program and the program for $100,000,000 worth of public works on the shelf, sit back and let the city go to pot."

'Saga of the Meramec,' Pageant, Exhibit on Conservation, Opens

3-Day Display Being Held at Gray Summit Arboretum — Performances Start at 8 P.M.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

An open-air pageant dramatizing the fight to preserve soil and water resources was presented last night at Missouri Botanical (Shaw's) Garden arboretum, Gray Summit, Mo., opening a three-day exhibit on conservation.

Performances of the pageant will be given again at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow in the arboretum's natural amphitheater.

The pageant and exhibit, entitled "Saga of the Meramec," are sponsored by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the regional chapter of Friends of the Land.

Conservation demonstrations will be given at 3 p.m. each day and booths have been set up to illustrate materials on wildlife, agricultural resources and farm equipment. Major exhibits are in the arboretum's Trail House and others are located along a wooded route leading to the amphitheater.

The pageant, based on a narrative poem, "The Spigot in the Hill," by the late Mrs. Besse Patterson Gephart, tells the story of several generations of a farm family and the land they settled in the Meramec basin.

Scenes were presented in 12 acting areas along a 500-foot semi-circle formed by one bank of Pot Hole lake. Walkie-talkie radios were used to co-ordinate action on the long "stage."

An audience estimated at 2000 persons watched the pageant from a gently-sloping hill on the other side of the lake. Music for the pageant was written by Mrs. Dorothy Gaynor Blake and the production was under the direction of Miss Maggie Speer. Narration was by Gil Newsome, radio announcer.

The waste of natural resources by pioneer farmers was illustrated as "heedless settlers cleared the woodland slopes for more of hurried wealth." Central figure of the pageant, John Clayton, refused to follow the example of his neighbors, but his descendants ignored sound conservation procedures, destroying the value of the farm.

Leading roles in the costumed pageant were portrayed by members of the St. Louis Community Playhouse. Principals included Larry Green, Anne Chartrand, Nelson Baker, Barbara Isaac, Elizabeth Crowson, Arthur Carlson, Sue Perkins, Jane Bruce, John Gamble, Francis Lane, Ewell Miltonberger, Robert Staley and Keira Brooks.

Five paintings by Frank B. Nuderscher and Charles A. Morgenthaler, St. Louis artists, have been placed on exhibit in the arboretum entrance building. They depict settlement of the land, its depletion through destruction of timber and its rebuilding with conservation techniques.

Reforestation of the area is depicted in the pageant as the third generation of the Clayton family prepares to rebuild the land. The arboretum itself, once a barren flood plain, was reclaimed as part of a project centering around the Brush creek area.

Camp Fire Girls of the Jennings Council and a number of Boy Scout units are participating in the exhibit. Gray Summit is about 35 miles southwest of St. Louis at the junction of Highways 66 and 50.

CHARGE AGAINST PROSECUTOR IN DETAINER CASE DISMISSED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 19 (AP)—United States District Judge Bryan A. Simpson yesterday dismissed an indictment against Jesse W. Hunter, former state attorney, accused of causing a Negro to be held in jail for 19 months without bringing charges against him.

Defense attorneys contended the indictment failed to charge the 73-year-old Hunter with any offense against the laws of the United States and did not allege that the Negro, David McKinrick Reese, was deprived of any civil rights guaranteed to him by the Constitution or other laws.

The indictment, returned in Jacksonville, said the prosecutor requested the Hernando County Circuit Court at Brooksville to detain Reese "until an information could be filed against him," then not taking further action in the matter. Reese had been ordered held as an accessory after the fact in the killing of special deputy Bill Langston at Brooksville in May, 1950.

The defense motion said Reese had not tried to invoke any provisions of law to gain release.

CALHOUN COUNTY HOLDING ANNUAL APPLE FESTIVAL

The rich yellows of the Grimes Golden Delicious and the deep reds of the solid Jonathan were on display in the square at Hardin, Ill., today as Calhoun county began celebration of its seventh annual fall apple festival.

Barrels of ice-cold cider, squeezed from fruit which provides the income for most Calhoun countians, were free for the asking. And apple pies! Scores and scores were there for apple pie lovers and woe to the visitor who asked for any kind of pie other than apple.

The fesitval began with a parade of all the county's school children, about 350 of them. Each school was represented by a gaily decorated float and some of the pupils rode ponies and bicycles. There will be dancing tonight.

Tomorrow there will be a big parade with bands and drum and bugle corps from as far away as Springfield, Ill. The Women's Club, Chamber of Commerce and service and patriotic organizations will take part. The grand finale will be the selection and crowning of an Apple Queen at a ball tomorrow night.

VICTIM OF FIRE RETURNED TO BURNING HOME FOR CHECK

Mrs. Rosetta Lewis, 67 years old, one of two victims of the $200,000 Granite City fire Thursday night, lost her life after she returned to her home to recover a $44 old-age pension check, her husband, Alfred Lewis said yesterday. "We both got out of the house, but she went back for the check," her husband said. "That was the last time I saw her alive." The Lewis' lived on the second floor of a two-story frame rooming house at 926 Niedringhaus avenue. Her charred body was found lying on her bed.

Arthur Haley, 926 Niedringhaus avenue, said he was returning home from work at the Army Engineer Depot when he saw Mrs. Lewis running back into her home. "I warned her not to go in, but she went right by me," he said.

Mrs. Lewis' son, Edison Phelps, member of the Granite City School Board, helped fight the fire as a member of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department, but did not know until several hours later that his mother was in her home at the time.

TWO POLICE LIEUTENANTS PREPARE TO RETIRE AT 70

Police Lts. Martin Flanagan and Thomas J. Moran today were preparing for retirement on their seventieth birthdays, the arbitrary retirement age for St. Louis policemen.

Lt. Flanagan of Newstead district will retire Monday. A member of the police force since 1910, he spent many years in the detective bureau working on important cases. He lives at 3956 Shaw boulevard.

Lt. Moran is head of the Police Crime Prevention Bureau and has devoted much of his time to prevention of crime among juveniles and in assisting former convicts. A policeman since 1914, Lt. Moran organized athletic teams, clubs and social activities for juveniles to keep them out of trouble. His retirement date is Oct. 20, but he is leaving today on vacation extending to that date. He lives at 5113 Aubert avenue.

Admits Embezzling $93,674 From Louisiana Bank Over 12 Years

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 19 (UP)—A quiet-spoken unhappy man told yesterday how he had tried to live beyond his salary as bank vice president and wound up $93,674 short—of the bank's money.

Spellman M. Kling, 51 years old, was released on bond on federal charges of embezzling from the Louisiana National Bank, where he started as a runner in 1920 for $50 a month and rose to become assistant vice president at $416 a month.

Kling signed a confession after a $3500 check written by one of the bank's customers suddenly exposed his 12 years book juggling and ended his banking career.

"I'm glad it's finally over," he said with relief. "These past 12 years of living under the constant strain of wondering when I'd eventually get caught cost me more than any amount of money could be worth."

Kling said he took a little money, by falsifying bank records of the accounts of seven special friends, intending to replace it.

"I just took a few dollars and fully intended to put it back next pay day," he explained. "Somehow the amounts got larger and larger, until one day I realized that I'd never be able to pay it all back."

Neighbors said Kling was "always aiding people financially."

"He helped one young fellow through college one time, and I remember his paying off the mortgage or buying groceries for a temporarily hard-up family," said a neighbor.

Kling said he did not have a penny left.

NIXON TO BRING MESSAGE TO AFL FROM PRESIDENT

Address Here Next Wednesday Viewed by Some as Effort to Placate Labor.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will deliver a message from President Eisenhower to the American Federation of Labor convention here next Wednesday, it was announced today by the White House.

Informed of the selection of Nixon to deliver the address, some AFL delegates here suggested it might represent an attempt by the administration to placate predominant anti-administration groups in the federation.

Attacks on the administration by union leaders, including George Meany, president of the AFL, were renewed recently when Martin P. Durkin resigned as Secretary of Labor because he deemed an agreement had been broken in respect to a proposed 19-point Taft-Hartley law revision proposal.

Durkin's Hopes Blasted.

Durkin then returned to his original post as head of the AFL plumbers. Before he left his cabinet position it was reported he had hoped to present to the convention a set of White House-approved recommendations for revision of the Taft-Hartley law.

Assistant White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder said as far as he knew President Eisenhower had not considered giving a message to the convention. Ordinarily, delivery of a President's message is entrusted to the Secretary of Labor. That post has not been filled since Durkin's resignation.

During the presidential campaign last fall Eisenhower addressed the AFL convention as did Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee. For the first time in history the AFL indorsed the candidate of a major political party, throwing its support to Stevenson.

Lloyd Mashburn's Address.

Despite the pessimism of some observers, there are no over-all signs of weakness in the nation's economy to justify predictions of a business recession, Under Secretary of Labor Lloyd A. Mashburn said here yesterday.

"We hope there will not be, but we in the Labor Department are on the alert for any such signs," he added.

Mashburn addressed the American Federation of Labor union label and services trades department, which is meeting at Hotel Jefferson as a preliminary to the AFL national convention opening next week.

"Output, consumption and investment have all been at peak rates this year," Mashburn asserted. "The over-all level of economic activity is considerably higher than a year ago. While consumer outlays have been very heavy, personal income has increased sufficiently so that savings are rising at a steady pace.

"As is usually the case, however, some industries are experiencing difficulty in the midst of general prosperity."

Officers' Report Adopted.

The Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL concluded its convention by adopting the annual officers' report, read earlier by department president Richard J. Gray, which suggested that a qualified person be named "jurisdictional adjudicator" to resolve jurisdictional disputes among unions.

The department also elected former Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin, president of the United Plumbers and Pipefitters' Union, as eighth vice president, replacing Peter T. Schoemann.

Seven other vice presidents were renamed. They were William J. McSorley, representing the Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers; D. J. Tobin, Teamsters; Robert Byron, Sheet Metal Workers, William E. Maloney, Operating Engineers; M. A. Hutcheson, Carpenters; Peter Fosco, Laborers, and L. M. Rafferty, Painters.

UNION ELECTRIC RATE RISE TO BE EFFECTIVE SEPT. 28

$4,393,100 Increase Amounts to 8.5 Pct. on Basis of 1952—Is Full Amount Requested.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
The Post-Dispatch Jefferson City Correspondent.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 19 —A $4,393,100 annual rate increase granted Union Electric Co. of Missouri by the State Public Service Commission yesterday will take effect Sept. 28.

The increase, amounting to 8.5 per cent on the basis of 1952 operations, was the full amount sought by the utility in its scaled-down application filed last Aug. 31.

Of the $4,393,100 increase for the portions of the state served by Union Electric, the increase to St. Louis customers was estimated at $2,615,300.

In approving the rise, the commission found the revised schedule filed by Union Electric was reasonable and not excessive. After seeking in its original filing a rise of $5,189,800, the utility revised its request downward. The lower figure was not opposed by St. Louis.

In its order, which was unanimous, the commission found the utility's present rates would not permit it to earn an amount sufficient to pay its operating expenses, maintain its credit and attract new capital.

The proposed rates approved today will be neither burdensome nor unreasonable to the electric customers of the company, the commission said.

The average net original cost of the utility property in Missouri was estimated by the commission for 1953 at $173,910,500, on which the new rates, had they been in effect for the full year, would have yielded a return of 6.37 per cent.

The rate base for 1954 was estimated at $209,436,000 because of expansions now in progress. The yield at that time is expected to be about 6 per cent.

Some idea of the growth of the company in the last seven years is indicated by the net original cost figure for the end of 1946 which the commission found to be $137,489,290. There are now 445,400 electric customers served by the company in Missouri.

Net operating revenues for 1953 were estimated by the commission at $9,046,200, including the remaining months of this year at the higher rates. A similar estimate for 1954 resulted in a figure of $10,324,200.

Union Electric also has pending applications for increases of about $1,010,000 in its Illinois territory and about $194,000 in several cities it serves in Iowa.

WARDEN DEMANDS JAIL ABUSE INQUIRY

Hensley to Ask Grand Juries, Crime Board to Look into Charges.

City Jail Warden E. E. Hensley told the Post-Dispatch today he would demand an investigation of conditions at the jail by the state and federal grand juries and the St. Louis Crime Commission, following charges of gambling and mistreatment of prisoners.

Hensley made the announcement following a conference with Mrs. Edward G. Brungard, director of Public Welfare, who said yesterday she would investigate charges made by Olvin DeGonia, a probationary guard, that he was fired by Hensley after he voluntarily testified about conditions at the jail before the circuit court grand jury. The warden added that he would spend $500 of his own funds to investigate DeGonia, who lives at 3525 North Grand boulevard.

DeGonia said he frequently saw "trusties" playing cards with the chief guard, J. C. Richards. He also said he saw prisoners beaten with rubber hoses and thrown into the "black hole" without sufficient provocation. On another occasion, DeGonia said, "one Negro guard taunted a Negro prisoner about letters from his wife. One guard gave a drink of water to a prisoners and dared him to throw some of it. When the prisoner playfully did, the guard beat him with a blackjack and threw him into the hole."

Asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter if he intended to see Mrs. Brungard about his dismissal DeGonia said "No, what is the use?" However he did see Thomas Purcell, an administrative assistant to Mrs. Brungard and outlined his charges to Purcell, At the time of DeGonia's visit, Mrs. Brungard said she was unable to see him because of previous appointments. She said, however, she was "seriously disturbed" by DeGonia's charges and intended to determine if they were true.

DeGonia was hired as a probationary guard May 15 at $235 per month. His notice of dismissal was dated Sept. 11 and signed by Hensley. The notice stated his services were unsatisfactory. DeGonia said he had talked with Robert Guion, foreman of the June term grand jury and appeared as a witness Sept. 4. The grand jury in its final report omitted any reference to the City Jail. Previous grand juries for many years have commended Warden Hensley as an excellent administrator.

Hensley said guards employ force with prisoners only when they refuse to obey orders or when it is necessary to defend themselves against attack. Hensley has denied that there is any gambling at the jail.

CLAIM SCUTTLES AUCTION AT BARN LOCKED 40 YEARS

Prospects of antique hunters and collectors of old farm equipment for attending a public auction of items stored in a St. Charles county barn for almost 40 years were moth-balled yesterday when a relative claimed a one-third interest in the contents.

Paul Nieder, St. Charles attorney and administrator of the Cora Silver estate, said he called off a public auction set for Oct. 10 when attorneys representing Edith Parks of Rochester, N.Y., a niece of Miss Silver, presented the claim. The interest is alleged to have been acquired from Miss Silver's grandmother, Hanna Silver.

No sale will be planned, "until the claim is straightened out," Nieder said.

Miss Silver put all her home furnishings and farm equipment in the big barn on a 900-acre farm near St. Peter's in 1914 and moved to Denver. She died there last January, leaving an estate valued at $100,000. Last Tuesday Nieder opened the barn and found the contents intact.

NO-RAIDING PACT CALLED STEP TOWARD LABOR UNITY

John V. Iiffe, executive vice president of the CIO, declared today that the proposed no-raiding pact with the AFL when ratified by both conventions would constitute the first practical step toward a united labor movement. He addressed the Missouri CIO Council at Hotel Statler.

Telling of the futility of raids, Riffe declared that "in the past three years the two organizations have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars financing raids—resulting in a net changeover of less than 1000 members on either side."

Riffe pointed out that while some shifts were substantial that the aggregate gains by either the AFL or CIO were negligible. Unions, he added, should devote themselves to organizing the unorganized and strengthening the labor movement as a whole rather than attacking each other.

CHRYSLER CORP., BODY FIRM LAY OFF TOTAL OF 22,000

DETROIT, Sept. 19 (AP)—Chrysler Corp. shut down its Plymouth plant and laid off 8000 employes here yesterday. A few hours later, Briggs Manufacturing Co., which makes Plymouth bodies, announced it was laying off 14,000.

Chrysler blamed a shortage of trim material from suppliers for the shutdown, the duration of which it said was "indefinite."

CITY ELECTRICAL WORKERS VOTE TO WALK OFF JOBS

Strike, Set for Wednesday, Is Protest Over Delay on Pay Rise Proposal.

Union electricians employed by the city voted today to walk off the job next Wednesday in protest against the "dilatory tactics" of the City Civil Service Commission in failing to recommend pay increases for them.

About 100 city electricians, members of Local 1 and 2, AFL Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, will participate in the strike. The action was authorized today at a meeting of the city workers at union headquarters, 4249 Gibson avenue.

Henry Kuehner, business representative of Local 2, said the union will maintain skeleton crews at city hospitals and institutions, but will stop work at City Hall, Civil Courts Building, Municipal Courts Building, Kiel Auditorium and other city buildings.

The strike also will affect the city lighting and the traffic signal divisions, and the police and fire alarm systems.

Kuehner said there should be no breakdown in the alarm systems. But in event of any failure in these systems threatening life or property, union electricians will make the necessary repairs, he said.

The city electricians are demanding that their hourly pay be increased to equal the wages paid to union electricians by private industry.

Kuehner declared the city workers have had no wage increase since June 1952 when they won a salary advance after a two-day walkout. Since then, he said, private industry has granted increases of 7 and 5 per cent.

The union has made repeated requests to the Civil Service Commission for its approval of the higher rates, but the commission has refused to act, he charged.

Under the city's pay plan, electricians in the various classifications are paid either on a monthly or hourly basis. The monthly wages ranged from $310.30 to $342.30, and the hourly rate is from $2.45 to $3.17.

Harry Simmons, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, denied that the commission had rejected the union's demands. He said the matter had been referred back to the Department of Personnel for "study and clarification," and will probably be considered again at the commission's meeting next week. The date is not set.

He said the proposed new compensation plan for city employes is still under consideration by the commission.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Pedestrian Honks

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The new traffic control plan would seem to be accomplishing the one objective held paramount in shaping necessary ordinances and in planning administration of effective controls; i.e., to speed the movement of automotive traffic. Let the pedestrian beware.

Once again Mr. and Mrs. Pedestrian are left to shift for themselves. Lacking an authoritative voice to champion their rights of convenience and protection, the pedestrian was given short shrift at the planners' table and 'n legislative councils. He was taxed by way of need for greater agility, increased cadence of step, more acuteness of sight and hearing, a stout heart and a zest for dangerous living, to cope successfully with the problem of crossing the street. That is, especially, when there is no arm of the law present to stay the oncoming hordes of carriage trade.

In discussing this sad fate of the forgotten pedestrian with a member of our worthy Board of Aldermen, I was informed that all citizens must be willing to make way for the advance of progress, and it seemed he meant particularly the lowly pedestrian. He might well have added, "If he personally values his life and limb."

I was admonished that if the pedestrian expects relief from his plight, it might be profitable to organize supporters of his cause in numbers sufficient to give weight of influence to his appeal. So it's pressure that counts, and at this moment the poor old pedestrian has none.

Therefore I propose the organization of the Pedestrian Protective League, by, for and of pedestrians. Let the driver beware.

J. R. STOCKDALE.

Any Objections?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Why not send Senator McCarthy over to Russia so he will see Communism on its home grounds?

Or perhaps the Senator should consult the dictionaries and get some idea of what he's barking at.

AN OLD EX-CORPORAL.

On Knowing Too Much

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your alarm at the thought of selecting teachers on a wider basis than that of maximum knowledge touched but one aspect of the problem.

Knowledge is a secondary factor in most fields of human endeavor. No doubt you are familiar with the study "Why Men Fail." Most failures were found to be correlated with poor human relations rather than with insufficient knowledge of the other aspects of jobs.

Too much knowledge may be more than a waste of effort. It may be a handicap as well. As Morison has pointed out in "The Admiral of the Ocean Sea," you and I would not be here if Columbus had been a well-educated man.

His project of sailing to India was not rejected by the educated men of his day because they believed the earth to be flat. On the contrary, they believed it to be round, and they had a close idea of its actual size.

They "knew" that Columbus would starve to death before he could ever reach India—and they would have been right, of course, if he had not happened to stumble over a continent which was in the way.

Perhaps the most striking case of the danger of knowing too much is that of editors. For if they were required to have more than a smattering of information about the multitude of subjects on which they hold forth, how would they ever fill their columns?

Alton. WILLIAM NEWBERRY.

Problem of Safety

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The question of school busses is not at all one of education, but rather a problem of public safety. I would like to see the school bus program put into the hands of the director of public safety, or the State Highway Patrol, and all children, regardless of color, race or creed, protected from the slaughter on our highways. Every taxpayer has a right to demand that the greatest effort be made to protect his, as well as his neighbor's child. TOM DOLAN.

A Glimpse by Mistake

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The Russian Government made a big mistake when it permitted Mrs. Perle Mesta to travel in Russia without the conductors who usually accompany foreigners of importance.

Mrs. Mesta lifted a corner of the curtain that kept the economic condition of the average Russian worker from public view.

Only a few months ago the Russian Government announced as a milepost of achievement that toilet soap was now available in three different cake shapes. Not different toilet soaps, just different cake shapes. An announcement like that gives you an idea what else there is available in consumer goods and how unbelievably low the standard of living of the average Russian worker still is.

I like to believe that easing of Russia's foreign policy is due to pressure for a higher living standard from within.

MARTIN B. LECHNER.

Severe Tests in Germany

With the German electoral victory celebrations hardly concluded, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is already dealing with two of the most significant tests of his administration. One is external: the settlement of differences with France and the creation of the European army. The other is internal: the reward claimed by Germany's heavy industrialists for their open-handed support of Adenauer and his party.

The Chancellor already has sent a letter to French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, urging immediate negotiations. These will have to be conducted with tact. Germany's European neighbors were impressed by Adenauer's victory, and they realize that with American support it may make him top man on the continent, but they are not exactly happy about this.

Thus the independent Paris daily Le Monde points to the neo-Nazis who voted for Adenauer. It says "there are French Socialists, Gaullists and even Christian Democrats" who see alternatives to French acceptance of a rearmed Germany. "The advocates of integrated and Atlantic Europe will therefore have to prove to the country that such solutions are impossible before making their own solution prevail. All the more so since the German elections."

Similar views are put forth in other European newspapers. In Italy, La Stampa of Turin accuses the United States of listening "tolerantly, almost sympathetically, to a resurrection of the thesis that Nazi Germany was the most solid bulwark against Bolshevism." It even implies that we are more inclined than Adenauer to accept "the good offices of ex-Nazi generals." The German chancellor will need all his skill to convince his neighbors that he is not advocating a step toward Prussian militarism, and that he is not just an American "front man."

His success may depend in part on how he handles his internal problem. The industrialists are asking that his government sell to them long-nationalized power plants, mines, steel mills and chemical works. They are asking that Dr. Ludwig Ehard, Minister of Economy, be made the No. 2 man in the new Adenauer government, apparently against the Chancellor's own desires. And they are asking a whole list of economic measures where they already have a pretty free hand.

Then there is the demand that the German Trade Union Federation be placed under control of the Christian Democrats since it opposed them in the elections and lost. This is causing American officials in Germany considerable concern. As The New York Times reports, they are afraid "of seeing another of their creatures—a democratic trade union federation as a pillar of a democratic political state—being destroyed" while they also fear to say "anything critical of a political party that is being relied upon to carry through the European Defense Community project, Washington's main political objective in West Europe."

Germany's future will, of course, be shaped by Germans. The authority of the occupying powers is becoming more and more vestigial. Their main hope must be that Chancellor Adenauer and his followers are so devoted to moderation that they will meet their tests in a manner to strengthen democracy in Germany.

Congressman Scott's Socks

Not long ago the former Republican National Chairman, Congressman Scott of Pennsylvania, justifiably chided some party colleagues for sniping at the Eisenhower Administration. One of the snipers, Congressman Burdick of North Dakota, has now replied with a full burst.

Mr. Burdick refers to Mr. Scott, in the penultimate of logic, as "a follower of the internationalists," but he precedes this by dividing Republicans according to what they wear on their feet. Mr. Scott, he says, is an "elite" and "silk-stockinged" Republican—a phrase about as backward as its author's opinions.

Circa 1886, accusing a politician of wearing silk stockings was an effective calumny. "Sockless Jerry" Simpson, the Kansas Congressman, charged a banker-opponent with shrouding his toes in silk, and a reporter twisted that charge to imply that Simpson wore no socks at all. This was not true. Simpson wore socks but he hated to let his Populist constituents know it.

Today there are so many kinds of socks that it is doubtful if Congressman Burdick knows what Congressman Scott puts on his feet. Maybe dacron. But that is a contemporary subject and the next thing the Republicans know Usher Burdick may be telling them to raise less corn and more hell.

To Listen and Learn

Vice-President Nixon, preparing for his trip to Asia, has made a sound resolution.

"Our trip," he says, "will be one in which we will be listening and learning rather than telling people what we will do."

Whether Mr. Nixon meant it so or not, there is a sharp contrast between the behavior which he projects for himself and that pursued in the Far East by his fellow-Californian, Senator William F. Knowland.

Senator Knowland has not been listening to the Asians so much as he has been telling them. When the premier of Cambodia made statements which Knowland did not approve, the Senator at first rashly canceled his visit there, and then put out a statement which seemed to threaten withdrawal of aid to Cambodia.

Senators who go about laying down the law, granting or withholding aid in the majesty of their personal power, do not do the cause of American foreign policy any good. Mr. Nixon is wise to appreciate that the same rule holds for Vice Presidents. We commend his resolution to conduct himself with circumspection when he reaches Asia.

Burma's Standing Complaint

Burma is back in the United Nations with a complaint that ought to have been settled several months ago at the very least. It is demanding that the U.N. make another effort to force the withdrawal of some 12,000 Chinese Nationalist guerrillas who have been illegally in Burmese territory since the Communists drove them over the border in 1950.

Last April, the United States announced a plan looking toward speedy removal of the Nationalist intruders, and the Nationalist Government on Formosa agreed to co-operate. It appeared that the very presence of the Nationalists in Burma represented a standing invitation for the Red Chinese to intervene.

Since then, unhappily, there has been a good deal of talk and little action. The guerrillas are still in Burma and, according to the Burmese, they are still conducting raids against the countryside. Apparently Formosa has been hiding behind the pretext that the evacuation is a complex operation.

Who the Nationalists think they are deceiving on this matter is difficult to determine. Certainly not the Burmese. The repatriation of more than twice as many Nationalists from Indochina was accomplished virtually overnight. It is high time similar speed were displayed in evacuating the intruders from Burma.

Bad Transit Housekeeping

New York's fleet of city-owned busses is almost falling apart at the rivets. The city's Transit Authority employed a St. Louis Public Service Co. engineer to survey maintenance costs, and the findings were appalling.

The New York busses are poorly maintained, labor and materials have been wasted and costs are inexcusably high. The maintenance cost figure per bus is 23½ cents a mile in New York and only 8¼ cents in St. Louis.

This report has a bearing on the work of the St. Louis metropolitan board of freeholders, now studying public ownership and other ways out of our transit problem.

The first point is that politics must be barred absolutely from transit management. The New York Transit Authority inherited its mess from the old and political Board of Transportation.

St. Louis also must recognize that the Public Service Co. here, however much it is criticized, is a remarkably efficient operation. The company's ability to hold down operating costs is good for its stockholders and the public.

But it is also clear that operating efficiency alone has not solved the St. Louis transit problem. Riding costs are rising and service has been cut repeatedly. While the transit system has grown more efficient it has also grown more limited and more costly to the people.

The big task of the freeholders is to try to stop the destructive trend away from low-cost mass transportation. Public ownership would spell automatic and large savings in terms of taxes and dividend payments. These savings could be used to improve transit service—but only by a professional, non-political management, as New York's experience proves.

The balance between efficiency and effectiveness in transit service is not easy to achieve but the effort must be made. Otherwise St. Louisans will be left waiting for shiny efficient busses which appear less often and cost more.

Mr. Humphrey's Brave Words

Treasury Secretary Humphrey's brave words to the National Press Club may be haunting him in another few months. He claimed that sufficient progress has been made toward balancing the budget to permit a cut in personal income taxes and the end of the excess profits tax in January.

Mr. Humphrey is saying, in effect, that the present state of the budget permits the Administration to do what it committed itself to do several months ago. In seeking a six-month extension of the excess profits tax, President Eisenhower promised not to ask another, and also promised to let the individual income tax rates decline as scheduled next January.

If progress toward a balanced budget has been made, the fact remains that a balance has not been achieved. The latest figures show an estimated deficit for the year ending next June 30 of some $3,800,000,000. It would be the third highest since the end of World War II.

That would seem to leave the Administration only two choices: to cut spending—and that means military spending—or to increase taxes. Otherwise it would have to continue the policy of deficit spending which it condemned so roundly when practiced by the Truman Administration. And that might lead to the embarrassing necessity of lifting the federal debt ceiling.

Whether Secretary Humphrey has found a magic formula for cutting Government outlay remains to be seen. Even so, he might be wiser to concentrate on explaining the need for additional revenue, not less. Congressman Reed and others like him can be counted on to supply proof of how simple it will be to cut taxes.

Under the Dry Skies

The news from rural Missouri is plain and simple: no rain. The drouth in this state has become the worst in the country. Senator Symington has telegraphed Secretary of Agriculture Benson a demand for more help. Meanwhile farmers are selling out and moving out of southern and southwestern Missouri.

This serious situation could be turned into a major political dispute. Federal help has been reaching the livestock producers but there are protests about red tape and the difficulty of getting surplus feeds. Yet the dispute need not be carried beyond the clear fact that farmers need more assistance.

One reason for this is that the Benson program of selling Government surplus feeds at decreased prices was intended as a stop-gap until the fall rains fell. There have been no rains. Consequently farm leaders are urging the Government to extend the relief work into the future and into more counties of Missouri.

Moreover, while the aid program has helped keep dairy herds intact, it has not halted and was not intended to halt the drop in beef cattle prices which was probably inevitable and which has accompanied the drouth. Pressed by the high cost of feed, farmers sell beef cattle, and the price keeps going down.

Drouth and price depressions are historically a part of the rural scene, and present a long-range problem for the Agriculture Department. Right now the plight of Missouri farmers places the question of farm policy urgently at the door of Secretary Benson.

Paying for New Sewers

Would city taxpayers be compelled to share in the cost of new sewer construction in St. Louis county by a Metropolitan Sewer District?

The question was asked at a public hearing on the plan for the Metropolitan District, and it may reflect a fairly widespread concern among city residents. If so, they may be at ease. The cost of new sewers would be borne only by residents of the area benefited. City residents would not be taxed for purely county sewers, and vice versa.

The exception would be a new sewer benefiting the entire metropolitan area. If, for example, the Federal Government should prohibit the dumping of raw sewage into the Mississippi, the construction made necessary would be paid for jointly by taxpayers in city and county.

But if the Metropolitan District is not created, the costs of such a project would fall wholly on St. Louis, and county taxpayers would enjoy a free ride even though county sewage drains naturally into the river through the city.

All of which should give pause to those city taxpayers who think St. Louis has its sewer problems licked and that the county should be left to stew in its own juice. For as this example shows, the area's sewer problems must be tackled on a metropolitan basis if the ultimate solutions are to be equitable to all concerned.

"I'M FINE, THANKS, BUT I HEAR YOU'RE IN BAD SHAPE"
—From the Washington Post.

Fifty Years of Flight

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Experts surveying progress since that day in 1903 when the Wright brothers first flew at Kitty Hawk foresee greater conquest of air in future; Gen. Doolittle predicts two-hour flight across country; years ahead sure to bring more of supersonic speeds.

A Statement From the Magazine Aero Digest

"The future that aviation holds for man is as limitless as space."

That statement, made recently to an editor of Aero Digest, came, not from Buck Rogers or a Space Cadet, but from one of the best-informed aeronautical engineers in aviation. He is Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who, long before he became an Air Force hero of Tokyo raid fame, pioneered aviation research and got his doctor's degree in aerodynamics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Gen. Doolittle

As early as 1924, Gen. Doolittle had published a report on flight acceleration following research conducted under the auspices of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, then and now the world's leading aviation research organization. He is still a member of the committee.

As one of the nation's top advisers to the Air Force, he also spends a great deal of time studying, first-hand, the newest planes and engines, and as a vice president of Shell Oil Co., he is an authority on aviation fuels. This year he is chairman of the national committee honoring the fiftieth anniversary of powered flight.

To those pessimistic about aviation's future, Gen. Doolittle quotes Thomas A. Edison, in 1902, as saying that "in the present state of science, there are no known facts by which one could predict any commercial future for aerial navigation."

Flying in high-speed jets, Doolittle now foresees a "trip from Washington to San Francisco in only two hours, which, with the difference in time, will land the traveler there an hour before he took off."

It is the current director of N.A.C.A., Dr. Hugh S. Dryden, who presents the most comprehensive view of the past 50 years and the coming half-century from a standpoint of prophecy.

Pointing out that as late as 1908, Simon Newcomb was dismissing possible air transport as something belonging to "dreamland," a dim view shared by scientists all over the world, including Mr. Edison, Dr. Dryden faces the future with three possible solutions.

Today's "Dr. Pessimist," he suggests, foresees little progress. "Unless some unforeseen discoveries are made," he says, "it seems very doubtful that sustained supersonic flight will ever be commonplace. A few misguided individuals foresee supersonic speeds for commercial air transport. This is ridiculous; such developments would take a thousand years."

Equally ridiculous, in the pessimistic view, is widespread use of helicopters or the so-called convertiplane, a combination whirlybird and airplane. "Such schemes have been proposed by many inventors during the past 50 years, and nothing has come of them. Nothing will come of them in the next 50 years."

Having thus dismissed the future into an overcast of pessimism, Dr. Dryden considers it from the view of a "Dr. Optimist," with more sanguine results:

"There are few today who do not look forward with feelings of confidence that space flight will some day be accomplished. All that we require is to make rocket motors somewhat larger than those already in existence. To accomplish this all that is required is the pooling of skills already available and a great deal of money.

"Taking into consideration the speed at which guided missiles travel, that at which models have been propelled, the experimental data available from hypersonic experiments in wind tunnels and ranges, and the theoretical calculations which have been made, we may reasonably suppose that a satellite vehicle is entirely practicable now and that travel to the moon is attainable in the next 50 years."

Dr. Dryden's personal conclusion is on the optimistic side. In various moods he agrees with each in turn, but in his more rational moments he joins in unison with Wilbur Wright in affirming that ". . . it is not necessary to look too far into the future; we see enough already to be certain that it will be magnificent."

Insurance and the Dangerous Driver

From The Nevada (Mo.) Daily Mail

Companies which write automobile liability insurance are coming more and more to differentiate between drivers: between those whose ages indicate greater and lesser caution in handling a car; between those whose occupations indicate that they are either reliable or risky drivers; and between those who use cars in relatively safe areas and those who drive in perilous places.

Car-owners under 25 years of age, and especially those who are unmarried and have so-called uncontrolled use of the car, are reaping with a vengeance the harvest of the many serious accidents caused by such drivers. In New York state, for instance, they pay well over twice as much for insurance as best-risk drivers.

Companies affiliated with the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters have a lower rate for cars used solely for pleasure drivers as compared with those cars used to drive to and from work in metropolitan areas.

And the State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. of Illinois has recently made a survey of automobile drivers by occupations. It is interesting to note that the best drivers are proprietors and managers of wholesale businesses; the worst, enlisted military personnel. Second best are county agents, farm demonstrators and extension workers.

Other listings: educators, 7th; law enforcement officers, 14th; aviators, 20th; newspapermen, 26th; printers and allied workers, 27th; housewives, 28th; medical profession, 39th; commissioned military personnel, 40th; rural mail carriers, 47th; legal profession, 50th; churchmen and workers, 55th; traveling salesmen, 61st; students, 62nd; and unemployed, 63rd. There are 64 listings.

Incidentally, the New York University-Association of Casualty and Surety Companies' survey showed that although women motorists are in the minority on the open road, they burn up the highway in greater numbers than male motorists. In one test, 53 per cent of all the speeders warned were women.

The researcher also found that 99 per cent of all drivers ignored speed limits of 15 and 25 miles an hour posted in towns and villages. On the open road he clocked speeds up to 92 miles an hour with his radar equipment. Approximately five per cent of all drivers on rural highways were going faster than 70.

Between Book Ends

A Best-Seller Berated

BEYOND THIS PLACE, by A. J. Cronin. (Little, Brown & Co., 316 pgs., $3.75.)

Charles Lee in The Saturday Review.

A. J. Cronin, one of the world's most popular novelists and least competent critics, has this to say about "Beyond This Place," his newest book:

"It is probably the most exciting novel I have ever written."

One expects this sort of excessive admiration toward an offspring from his parent, though one also expects that the doting touch will have been somewhat tempered in a family now grown to 10. The fact of the matter is that all nine of Dr. Cronin's previous brain-children are better proportioned and more intelligent, a point of view he will allow when appreciation of his own vigor has subsided sufficiently to permit his natural scientific detachment to function. (Editor's Note: Nationally, the book rose this week to the head of the list of best-selling fiction.)

"Beyond This Place" suffers from the major fault of having been "constructed," to use the good doctor's own word, to fit a crusade. It issues from irritation, not from intensity; it is shaped by artifice, not by art. In its grotesque attack on the present system of trial by jury (isn't the crusade a bit on the synthetic side?) the book reads like badly diluted Dickens, passionate urgency all but gone and humor totally absent. In support of his attack Dr. Cronin concocts a fantastically irregular murder trial with which to berate the judiciary process, ignoring the fact that his own "trial" of the courts is monstrously loaded and overlooking entirely the fact that in law (as in medicine) some lamentable margin of error must be allowed for the imperfections of humanity. Like many crusaders, Dr. Cronin is vehement in assault, but fuzzy as to the nature of his reforms.

A. J. Cronin

The story, set in Northern Ireland and the Midlands city of Wortley in 1936, deals with the strenuous efforts of young Paul Mathry to obtain the release of his father, Rees, from Stoneheath Prison, where he has spent 15 years of a life sentence for a murder he did not commit. The circumstantial evidence on which Rees has been convicted is so faulty that only an author would try to get away with it; the prison so cruel (Rees is never allowed a visitor) that it would seem Dr. Cronin missed the real target of a crusade; the language with which he reports these dismal events so Victorian that one wonders why the whole business wasn't set in 1876 instead of 1936.

The characters are as stereotyped as the language, the original prosecutor in the case (Sir Matthew Sprott) being an engine of knavery and the heroine (Lena Anderson) — confusingly described as a Juno, a Madonna, and an Amazon—the misunderstood victim of a British raping party (what a picture of England Dr. Cronin draws!).

Rees's villainous truculence toward his family is only the final touch of the bizarre in a novel that also features a purse made of human skin and a hitherto unrecorded illusion of the great magician Harry Houdini, an appearance at Wortley's Palace Theater just nine years after his death.

Faulkner's Two Families

SARTORIS, by William Faulkner. (Signet, 35c.)

Twenty years before he won the Nobel prize for literature in 1949, Faulkner wrote this novel, now between paper covers. Critic Robert Cantwell contributes a new 25-page introduction explaining the significance of "Sartoris" in Faulkner's work as a whole.

MISSIONARY SAYS INDIA NEEDS U.S. FRIENDSHIP

Frank C. Laubach Urges Use of Christian Weapon of Kindness to Fight Communism.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"We Americans ought to take India to our heart, for she needs our friendship," Frank C. Laubach, veteran missionary and literacy expert, said here last night. He spoke to an audience that filled Grace Methodist Church, Skinker boulevard and Waterman avenue.

Another speaker was the Rev. Roy A. Burkhart, pastor of First Community Church of Columbus, O., president of World Neighbors, Inc. The meeting was sponsored by the Metropolitan Church Federation and the chairman was Harold E. Knight Jr., president of the Webster Groves Chapter of World Neighbors.

"The purpose of World Neighbors," Laubach explained, "is to fight Communism in underdeveloped parts of the world by using the Christian weapon of 'amazing kindness.'

'Lost My Heart to India.'

"I have lost my heart to India," he said. "I have been spending much of my time in India since 1935, and I'm going back. All Americans must understand and love India. She is our big sister republic with two and a half times our population.

"I want to speak a good word for Nehru, who is criticized by many Americans. A third of India is Communist. Nehru dare not form a military alliance with us, because his 370,000,000 would not support it. Our President is guided to a certain extent by public opinion. So is Nehru.

"Why did all China go Communist? The reason is very simple. It was because the hungry were hungry, there was not enough food. The Communists promise anything, they are absolutely unscrupulous.

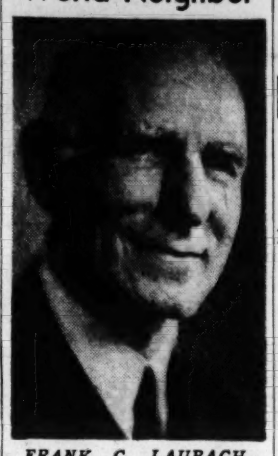

Speaks for the Oppressed.

"I speak for the 1,500,000,000 people around the world who are sharecroppers and are oppressed. Since the dawn of history this vast multitude has suffered in mute, sullen despair. But the destitute people at the bottom of society are no longer resigned to their fate. Now they burn with a terrible, desperate determination to come up out of their misery, out of their destitution, up, up, up to our level. We must help them."

An offering was taken last night for an institute at Allahabad, India, that will teach young Indians how to write simple boks and magazine articles. Laubach, who is a special counselor on literacy for the National Council of Churches, will return to India to take part in the crusade against illiteracy.

World Neighbors plans to establish 120 pilot stations in underdeveloped countries, the Rev. Dr. Burkhart said. American experts at these stations will teach people how to read, how to use better methods of agriculture, sanitation, child care, and the care and preparation of food.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH MISSION TO OPEN IN COUNTY AREA

A new Episcopal Church mission, sponsored by St. Peter's Episcopal Church of Ladue, will be opened tomorrow in the Sherwood School (formerly Jack and Jill School) on Clayton road a block west of Ballas road.

Bishop Arthur C. Lichtenberger will speak at the first service at 11 a.m. tomorrow. A Sunday school will be held every Sunday at 11 a.m., also a family service for parents and other adults, at the same hour. John D. Thornton will be the lay reader in charge.

The new mission is intended to serve families living in the area west of Ballas road, between Manchester and Olive Street roads.

In opening this mission, primarily to serve children, St. Peter's Church is carrying on a tradition begun three years after the Civil War. For it was in 1868 that St. Peter's itself began as a mission school for children; it opened in a skating rink at Olive street and Compton avenue.

DAY OF ATONEMENT OBSERVED BY JEWS

Rabbi Isserman Denounces 'Revolt Against the Values of the Mind.'

"We are beginning to see tendencies of a revolt against the values of the mind," Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman said last night in a Yom Kippur sermon at Temple Israel, Kingshighway and Washington boulevard.

The Jewish Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, was observed last night and today by all congregations. Observance of the holy day, most solemn on the Jewish calendar, will end at sundown.

"This anti-intellectualism can be observed in the popularity of comic strips over news columns," Rabbi Isserman said, "of sport pages over the editorial page, in the idolization of dancers, singers, crooners, who, because they are talented in bringing laughs, are looked upon as authorities on everything under the sun....

"In Judaism the love for learning was wedded to an appreciation of moral teachings and to great religious convictions. Such learning can save humanity...."

In a sermon at United Hebrew Temple, Rabbi Samuel Thurman said that charity becomes simple justice when it is raised "to the level of its true stature....

"The deplorable feature about humanity today is not that we are as bad as we are, but that we are not as good as we can be....

"In prayer, repentance and charity we may, if we will, find the expression of our deepest yearnings and our highest aspirations."

Rabbi Julius Gordon, in his sermon at Shaare Emeth Temple, said, "the Day of Atonement is meant to reconcile us to God and to our fellow-men. It brings to us the conviction that human beings, the children of a merciful God, are bound together by tender ties of sympathy and compassion. There are no isolated human beings in the whole history of mankind. We do not begin to live until we learn to live with other human beings."

County Church Calls Pastor.

The Rev. Guy D. Outlaw will be installed as Protestant chaplain of Homer G. Phillips Hospital, 2601 Whittier avenue, at 4 p.m. tomorrow at a service on the hospital's front steps. The service has been arranged by the Metropolitan Church Federation on whose staff the new chaplain serves.

The Rev. Dr. Jesse E. Thomas of University Methodist Church will preach the installation sermon, and the Rev. Joseph E. Nicholson, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, will be liturgist. The Rev. Dr. O. Walter Wagner, executive director of the church federation, will install the new chaplain.

Others who will take part in the service include the Rev. William D. Thompson Jr. of Memorial Baptist Church, and Frederick Schultz, a member of Ladue Chapel, which donated the funds to provide a chaplain for the hospital.

The forum will also include a detailed demonstration of the ceremonies of the mass. The forum will be conducted by the Rev. Joseph A. McNicholas, assistant pastor of the cathedral.

Sessions will be held every Monday and Thursday at 8:15 p.m. for 10 weeks in the assembly room of the Cathedral Rectory, entered by the east door. The forum also is open to non-Catholics.

'If We Play Our Best, We Might Surprise 'Em,' Faurot Says

Karakas To Start Against Maryland

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 19—Don Faurot, wearing an old school tie, showed refreshing rah-rah spirit at 51 when he evaluated Missouri's football opener today against mighty Maryland by observing, "if we play our best, we might surprise 'em."

The old master of 'Ol Mizzou fingered his black and gold string tie, a Friday gift from a loyal Tiger alumnus, as he continued, "there's no doubt they (the Terrapins) have more material, but the will to win could carry our kids a long way."

Faurot's greatest concern — even more than finding ways and means of harnessing Jim Tatum's talented backfield — was recent steaming weather that caused him to lighten the Tigers' practice schedule because of fearful signs of weariness. "I've tried to keep the kids from going stale, but the heat has bothered them, I know," the veteran coach said. "I just hope they've got their fire back."

Man Be an Equalizer.

While a forecast of light showers for the game might affect business manager Virgil Spurling's pessimistic prediction of an 18,000 crowd, Faurot was unruffled at the thought of rain.

"It's an equalizer," he said and pointed to last year's game in which Missouri came within 70 seconds of an upset victory. That one in which the Sugar Bowl champion Terrapins pulled out a 13-10 triumph was played in a light drizzle.

As usual Missouri passed up a workout the day before the game, but Tony Karakas, sophomore center from St. Louis, insisted on practicing his long snapback for the spread formation, which the Tigers were expected to have to use because of Maryland's formidable line. The former Soldan-Blewett athlete will open in his first varsity contest because senior Loyd Brown is under par physically.

"If I can get that ball back there, I'll be all right," said the 21-year-old Karakas, who spent two years in service. "I'm not worried about my linebacking. It's a big thrill starting."

Will Have Hands Full.

Karakas and company will have their hands full up front against a powerful Maryland forward wall anchored by its two husky tackles, Stanley Jones and Bob Morgan, who between them weigh 460 pounds. Behind that rugged line operates a backfield Tatum has said he wouldn't trade "for any in the country"—Bernie Faloney, Chet Hanulak, Dick Nolan and Ralph Felton.

Hornsby Says He'd Like to Try New Line

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (UP) — Rogers Hornsby, a professional baseball manager who can't seem to hold a steady job, said today he might like to try a new line of work.

"I don't know much about anything but baseball," he said, "but I'd be willing to learn."

Hornsby, who has been a baseball manager more times than some players have been on third base, was interviewed at the Edgewater Beach hotel. He said he plans to stay at the hotel for awhile. He didn't know how long.

He was asked if he had received any job offers since getting fired from the Cincinnati Reds Thursday.

"Nah," he said. "Give 'em time." He laughed. "If you hear anything, let me know."

Hornsby, who has managed the St. Louis Cards and Browns, the Chicago Cubs, the Boston Braves and several minor league clubs, said money wasn't the big consideration in getting another job.

He said he'd be drawing a salary until Jan. 1 and "I guess I can eat hamburgers for awhile."

Gavilan Hard-Pressed To Beat Basilio, May Give Up Welter Title

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Cuban Kid Gavilan may never again fight as world welterweight champion.

Alarmed at the champion's weight-making troubles for last night's split-decision victory over game Carmen Basilio, Manager Angel Lopez plans to take Gavilan to a doctor for a check-up next week. He wants to know if the champ is undermining his health by trying to scale down to 147 pounds.

"If you can't make the weight, you have to give it up," said Lopez. "It all depends on what the doctor says."

"At 150 pounds Basilio would have been no problem. Maybe the Kid had better go after the middleweights. He could beat both Bobo Olson and Randy Turpin."

Gavilan is supposed to defend his welter crown against Johnny Bratton within 60 days but that looks doubtful now. He is much more interested in the winner of the Oct. 21 Turpin-Olson scrap for the middleweight title.

"He had to take off too much weight too quick," said Lopez. "From 154 on Aug. 26 to 146 3-4 yesterday was too much. He looked skinny, he looked bad."

"I Licked Him," Basilio Says.

Basilio, a courageous fellow from nearby Canostota who put up a whale of a fight and floored Gavilan in the second round, also thought the champion looked bad. Until they announced the decision, amidst a storm of boos, he thought he already had ended Gavilan's reign.

"I licked him good," he insisted in his dressing room. "I want to fight him again as soon as I can. He never hurt me but he stuck his thumb in my eye with one of those bolos."

From the moment Basilio dropped Gavilan with a left hook early in the second, it was an interesting fight. Basilio, fighting more cautiously than against Billy Graham, tried to conserve his energy for the 15-round route. When Gavilan flurried, he flurried with him, but he couldn't match Gavilan's effective left jab that closed his left eye to a slit from the eighth on.

The two New York City officials, Referee George Walsh and Judge Harold Barnes, voted for Gavilan to a din of boos from a partisan crowd of 7103 paying a gross gate of $74,317 for central New York's first world title fight. Jack Kimball, the lone Syracuse judge, gave it to Basilio 7-5-3. Walsh scored 8-6-1 and Barnes 7-6-2. The Associated Press card was all even, 6-6-3.

Knockdown Count Disputed.

When Basilio's left hook dumped Gavilan in the second it was the first time the Cuban had been down since Ike Williams decked him, in their first fight, Feb. 27, 1948. It was only the second time he had been dropped in his 112-bout career.

The count of the knockdown was disputed. Walsh said it was eight but many ringsiders insisted they heard him toll nine.

Gavilan actually had to call on all his boxing savvy to stab his way to a disputed decision.

"I knew I had him licked in the tenth," he said. "I knew if I boxed him, he couldn't outpoint me."

The rugged 26-year-old challenger didn't fight like any 4-to-1 underdog. As far as most Syracuse fans were concerned, he left the ring the uncrowned champion.

It was the third split decision victory for Gavilan in six defenses since he won the title from Bratton, May 18, 1951.

The fighters enjoyed a good pay day. Gavilan got 40 per cent and Basilio 20 per cent, plus a reported $30,000 from the television sponsors. The fight was beamed across the nation with Syracuse and a 100-mile area blacked out. Gavilan should get about $34,000 for the night's work and Basilio about $17,000.

Flyweight King Is Stopped in Nontitle Bout

OSAKA, Japan, Sept. 19 (AP)—Filipino flyweight Leo Espinosa defeated world champion Yoshio Shirai of Japan by a technical knockout in the seventh round of a non-title 10-round bout here tonight.

Shirai never fully recovered from that blow. Espinosa floored him again in the sixth.

Jeanie Dobbin, With Her Patchwork Golf Game, Wins Title for 3rd Time

By Robert Morrison

Jeanie Dobbin and her patchwork golf game had recovered the women's district championship today and the little 100-pounder from Norwood had joined the exclusive class of three-time winners.

She had her little sister's putter, Johnny Manion's old wedge and Joe Ezar's swing as she unseated the title-defending school girl, Susan Driscoll, six and five, in the tornament final yesterday at Meadow Brook.

The combination did a neat job as Jean shot the 31 holes in four under women's par to regain the crown she wore in 1950 and 1951.

Except for a lapse on the second nine, it was a clean-cut decision in which Miss Dobbin's short game offset whatever she lacked in distance against the sturdy 16-year-old Miss Drisscoll.

May Play in Texas.

Jeanie was thrilled with the result after having performed rather poorly in the Tam O'Shanter and unsuccessfully in the state women's tournaments earlier this season, and she said she may attempt to play in a Texas tournament in October.

"They're having the Texas Women's Open at Fort Worth and I may play in that if I can persuade my father (Al Dobbin) to let me go," she said.

But beyond that her golf future was uncertain. Right now she's thinking about trying to get an airline stewardess job that could possibly prevent extensive competitive golf in the future.

Old pro Joe Ezar is convinced she could have a golfing future, however. The itinerant pro who taugh her his unusual swing, a flatter sort of swing that keeps the club under better control, said, "She'll still improve."

"She's got the swing, now she needs finesse in her shots," said Joe, who dropped by Meadow Brook to congratulate his pupil after the title victory.

JEANIE DOBBIN

At her weight Miss Dobbin is no power hitter and late in the morning round against Miss Driscoll, Miss Dobbin got a glimpse of what power could do.

Miss Driscoll, four down after nine holes, came back with long-hitting to be only one down at lunch. But Miss Dobbin moved to a four-up lead after 27 holes and then closed out her opponent on the thirteenth green.

Jeanie was steadier through the fairways, she was frequently good but sometimes erratic with the old wedge, and nearly always good with her sister's junior-size putter.

At 5-foot-3, Jeanie can use the short putter and the way she used it on Meadow Brook's tricky greens was perhaps the greatest accomplishment in her patch-work game.

Jeanie gained a four-up advantage in the first nine holes by shooting four birdies, three of them earned and one conceded, for an outgoing 33, four under women's par. The wedge was working very well in that stretch.

But on the second nine she bogied much too often while Susan struck back with two birdies and an easy par on the eighteenth hole where No. 3 iron stopped four-feet from the pin. She won with the par to go to lunch just one down.

After the intermission, however, Jeanie slowly built up her lead with an eight-foot birdie putt to win No. 2, a 10-foot putt for a birdie to win No. 6, and four true shots to win No. 9 and go four up.

When Jeanie hit a great tee shot to just four feet from the pin at No. 10, Susan conceded that hole after hitting into a trap, and that put Miss Dobbin five up. Jeanie lost No. 11, but then Susan's usually sturdy game failed her and after she dropped the 12th to a par 4, she conceded an eagle and the match on No. 13.

Thus the 23-year-old Jeanie regained the title she first had won by beating Peggy Hartenbach, 6 and 4, at Normandie in 1950. In 1951 Jeanie's final victim was Mrs. David Mitchell, 3 and 2. And this year's triumph made her the sixth in the long history of women's district golf to win the title at least three times. The others were Betty Haemerle Broz, whose trophy Miss Dobbin retired; Mrs. R. I. Caughey, Sara Louise Guth, Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace and Virginia Pepp.

Littler Gains Early Lead in U.S. Golf Final

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19 (UP) — Stocky Gene Littler gained a 2-up lead over Dale Morey today at the nine-hole mark of their scheduled 36-hole National Amateur golf championship match with a two-under-par 33 going out on the Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club course.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19 (INS)—A young naval airman and a balding former professional battle for the National Amateur golf crown at Oklahoma City today.

Littler, who calls La Jolla, Calif., home when out of uniform, swept into the final by crushing Bruce Cudd, Portland (Ore.) university junior, 10 to 8, in the semi-final round yesterday. Morey whipped Don Albert, Purdue's Big Ten champion from Alliance, O., 5 and 4.

Observers of the play at the fifty-third United States amateur tourney over the 6852-yard par 71 Oklahoma City golf and country club course have tabbed Littler the favorite over Morey because of his superior record.

The California sailor has shot stellar golf in his seven previous matches. He has played 123 holes during five days of pressure filled competition in four under par.

Littler has won every match since his opening match last Monday with ease. His closest came in the first round when he was pushed to 17 holes before edging out Tommy Barnes of Atlanta, Ga., 2 and 1.

The Indiana veteran was forced to two extra hole matches and was four over par for 83 holes in six matches.

Alabama Wilts in Final Period and Is Upset by Mississippi Southern

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (UP)—The 1953 college football season was ushered in today with one of the biggest upsets in a quarter century — little Mississippi Southern's stunning 25-19 conquest of Orange Bowl champion Alabama.

Scheduled as a "breather" for the 61-6 conquerors of Syracuse in last New Year's day's Florida classic, the Hattiesburg, Miss., school with a male enrollment of only 1460 rose behind speedy Lauren Pepper to spring the season's first shocker at Montgomery, Ala., last night.

Coached by former University of Mississippi star Thad (Pie) Vann, Mississippi Southern compiled a 10-2 record last season but was not regarded as in the same class as the powerful Crimson tide — expected to be one of the country's powerhouses this year. But it demonstrated last night that in this new era of "one platoon per team" the larger schools will no longer be able to overwhelm the little fellows with sheer weight of numbers.

That was the contention of the athletic directors of the "little fellows" who supported the return to the "one platoon" system and it took no longer than the season's first day to demonstrate its truth.

Wilt in Final Period.

For it was the two-platoon accustomed Crimson Tide that wilted in the last period as the 28-point underdogs tallied two touchdowns against the second-stringer. Alabama's starters, unaccustomed to playing both on offense and defense, simply tired after three periods and the substitutes could not hold the fort.

Pepper, 195-pound halfback and ex-soldier, hammered away at the tiring tide for 115 yards and two touchdowns to spark the victory.

On the west coast, UCLA swamped an overmatched Oregon State team, 41-0. Senior tailback Paul Cameron, an all-coast player last year, led the rout against the Beavers as he passed for three touchdowns. Two of his scoring passes were to wingback Bill Stits and the third to wing Don Stalwick.

UCLA scored twice in each of the first three periods and might have run up several more had not Coach Henry (Red) Sanders cleared the bench to spare the Beavers who never came within 25 yards of the Uclan's goal where they fumbled away what little opportunty they had.

The game was no test of the "single" platoon system as UCLA substituted at every legal opportunity.

Most of the other favorites came through as expected last night — Detroit routing North Dakota State, 33-6; Furman downing Newberry, 33-0; Temple, led by Jack Hadley's two touchdowns, walloping Albright, 34-0; and Youngstown beating Bowling Green, 20-7.

Seek 26th Win in Row.

Among the national powers in action today, Georgia Tech is shooting highest and seems safest — begging Mississippi Southern's pardon. Tech, which had an 11-0 record in 1952, will be shooting to extend a string of 26 straight victories and seems almost certain to do so against Davidson.

In the east, interest centers around the star intersectional attraction at Philadelphia which pits Villanova against Georgia and is expected to draw close to 100,000 fans. Villanova's Gene Filipski and Georgia's Zeke Bratowski are spotlighted in a personal duel of widely heralded backs in this encounter.

The three outstanding contenders for the southwest conference crown also will be in action—veteran Rice opposing Florida, Baylor taking on California and Texas meeting L.S.U. In addition, still another Southwest Conference team — Texas A. & M., will be playing Kentucky.

Pacific Coast conference champion Southern California faces Washington State and powerful Duke opens the new Atlantic Coast conference schedule against South Carolina in other games of major stature.

In addition, the N.C.A.A. television game of the day—the one certain to be viewed by the biggest crowd — sends Oregon against Nebraska at the Lincoln, Neb., studio. It's billed as a battle between the passing of Oregon's George Shaw and the running of Nebraska's Johnny Bordogna. (KSD-TV will televise the game.)

Great Day for Irish as C.B.C. Trims McKinley

By Harold Tuthill

It was a great day for the Irish. Tom Brady threw two touchdown passes to Mike Dougherty; Jim Burke was a great linebacker and Jerry Concannon placed a whale of a game in the line as Babe Murphy's C.B.C. outfit whipped a good McKinley team, 13-0, before a fine turnout at the Cadet field last night.

C.B.C., in gaining its second football triumph of a young season, had other stars. Co-captain Tony Gioia threw a McKinley back for about a 10-yard loss in hte third quarter and then had to leave the game with less than five minutes to play because of an injury.

Dougherty was shaken up, too, in the same quarter and had to be taken out, but the bruising was not unexpected because McKinley has a big, veteran team which will give its Public High League rivals considerable trouble as soon as Coach Julius Blanke polishes up the Goldbug attack. McKinley looks powerful enough to do as well as it did last year when it tied Beaumont for the league title.

After a quarter spent without success against John Bischof, Frank Czapla and other stout players on the McKinley line, C.B.C. switched from running to passing plays to break the scoreless tie. Murphy's Cadets forced a break when Jerry Pregon's kick was blocked and recovered at the Goldbug 16. On the second play, Brady hit a glue-fingered Dougherty with a TD pass and then Dean Miner place-kicked the extra point to give C.B.C. a 7-0 lead in the second quarter.

Five minutes and 54 seconds had elapsed when the combination clicked. A little more than four minutes later, the Cadets moved in scoring position when they recovered a fumbled punt, again near the McKinley 16-yard line. After an incomplete pass and a five-yard penalty which set C.B.C. back to the 21, the Brady-Dougherty produced the second and final tally. Miner's try for the extra point was blocked by Jim Earls.

McKinley mustered up one serious threat against the C.B.C. line which sparkled defensively. Near the close of the third quarter, Blanke's Goldbugs worked their way inside the C.B.C. 15, but a fumble checked the McKinley attack.

More City-Prep competition will be on tap tonight when Beaumont, the '52 co-champion with McKinley, opposes De Andreis at the Public Schools Stadium at 8 o'clock. Roosevelt, with a new coach, George Hasser, will meet Collinsville in a 2 o'clock game at the Stadium.

Ritenour High And Assumption Play 6-6 Tie

By John J. Archibald

Nobody is ever too happy about a tie game, what with it eliminating all chance of a perfect season for both teams, but the coaches of Assumption and Ritenour High Schools will probably have a certain peace of mind as they watch some of the other schools tangle today. It will require several more games for John Moore of Ritenour and George Martz of Assumption to determine whether they were deceived by their teams' play in the 6-6 deadlock at Parson's Field last night.

Martz lost his backfield through graduation but retained his line, while most of Moore's backs are veterans but many of his linemen are fairly new. In the opener for both teams, each looked to have the situation in hand. Assumption demonstrated good ground gaining ability and a dangerous pass attack, but in preventing the Pioneers from going over at the crucial moment on all but one occasion, Ritenour's linemen looked to be good enough for the coming Suburban League Big Six campaign.

Ritenour Scores Early.

Ritenour had the ball for only a few moments during the first quarter, but that was all the Huskies needed. On Ritenour's second offensive play, John Orlando broke through a hole at right tackle and outdistanced the Assumption defenders for 78 yards and a touchdown. The run for the extra point was stopped, so Ritenour had the same 6-0 lead by which it lost to the East Siders last season.

And though Assumption was able to pick up yardage at a steady rate—they wound up with 13 first downs to Ritenour's 3 — the St. Louis county team managed to hold fast when it was vital.

In the third quarter Assumption began to rely heavily on the passing of one of Martz's new quarterbacks, Mike Magac, who pronounces his name "magosh." That was a fitting exclamation for Ritenour fans as Mike began fiirng.

An 18-yard gain by Dave Buckley, plus a 15-yard roughness penalty on Ritenour put Assumption on the 20. Two of Magac's passes were incomplete, but on the third he lofted one deep to Gary Blaha. Blaha leaped and caught the ball, but he was past the end zone and this too was ruled an incomplete pass.

Another Pass Ties Score.

Later in the quarter Magac and Buckley set it up again, however, and Magac's pass to Blaha from the five-yard line tied the score. Ritenour blocked the kick for extra point.

Ritenour gave the large Assumption crowd a severe scare near the end of the game when Pete Orlando, twin to John, intercepted one of Magac's passes near his own 40 and careened through Assumption players until only one was left between him and the goal line. That one was Coach George Martz's little 200-pound brother Al, however, and Al dragged Orlando to the ground at the 27.

Interference was called on a pass by Ollie Balling on the next play, putting the ball on the 12. An offside penalty pushed Ritenour back to the 17, but Jack Rosner cracked forward to the six. With one second remaining, Dick Hunter tried to make it on a wide run, but he was stopped four yards short of the goal line.

Knights to Play Detroit Tonight In Home Opener

The Knights, St. Louis's professional football entry in the Central States League, will make their home debut tonight in a non-league game against the Detroit Tars at Oakland Stadium. The contest will start at 8 o'clock.

It looks like a tough assignment for the Knights. The Tars, defeated only once in two years, have scored 101 points this season in their first three games and have not been scored on.

The St. Louis team beat Delevan, Wis., 9-7, in its first road game two weeks ago, then lost to the defending champion Wausau (Wis.) Muskies, 14-6, last Saturday night.

The probable starting lineups tonight:

Coast League Keeps Ban on Optioned Men

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Pacific Coast League lost about $350,000 this year but it is going to operate again in 1954 and has drawn a blueprint for future development that reportedly calls for new park construction and concerted promotion.

George Norgan of Portland and Bill Starr of San Diego outlined the plans which the directors, meeting in annual session yesterday, approved tentatively. They are to take final action at another meeting the week of Oct. 25. The 1954 schedule will be adopted then, calling for 168 games instead of 180.

The directors took no action on the serious territorial ruckus involving Los Angeles and Hollywood, but this is to come up again at the October meeting. Los Angeles has notified Hollywood that it does not intend to extend territorial privileges to the Stars after the 1957 season, which means that President Bob Cobb must move out of the Los Angeles area unless the situation can be adjusted amicably.

President Clarence Rowland was instructed to find out from owner Paul Fagan of the San Francisco Seals what he intends to do about operating next year. If Fagan intends to quit, as he has threatened, the league will step in and operate the franchise and players or find an operator. Fagan has returned to San Francisco from Hawaii but did not attend yesterday's meeting.

President Brick Laws of the Oakland club tried to have the no option rule rescinded. Seattle and Los Angeles supported him but Hollywood did not vote and the measure lost. It would have taken six votes to rescind the rule, which requires outright purchase of players instead of taking them from the majors on option.

The meeting closed on an optimistic note. All seemed confident that the threat of an invasion of Coast League territory by major league interests had passed, at least temporarily. Hollywood's Cobb said that the adoption of the development program outlined by Starr and Norgan "will be a milestone in Pacific Coast League history."

Cobb said recently that minor league baseball was lagging because of unattractive parks and he promised that if Hollywood's plea for equal territorial rights is granted he will build an all-purpose $6,000,000 park in the San Fernando valley that would be a crowd pleaser and a money maker. The Stars have won three pennants in five years and have been a good attraction all around the league.

Animal Runs Helter-Skelter Without Hitting Anyone—Trapped in Rest Room.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

A skittish calf, "headed off" by a horse in a western-style show event, leaped over a five-foot fence into a crowd of spectators last night at Missouri Stables Arena.

The spectators scattered from their choice spots at the rail and the calf ran helter-skelter among them for 75 feet without striking anyone, then dashed into the men's lounge, where attendants held it captive until the end of the All-Arabian Horse Show. The "cutting horse" event continued and was won by Arraff, ridden by Harold Brite.

EISENHOWER WILL ADDRESS G.O.P. GROUP IN CHICAGO

field said that "Mr. Truman lectured the sophomores while Stevenson gave the post-graduate course." He charged the Democrats were dealing in "distortion and concealment."

'Shabby Spectacle.'

"We and the rest of the nation have been treated to a sad and rather shabby spectacle," Summerfield said, "the gathering of a band of disappointed politicians with nothing in common except a shared desire to recapture the power which they so shamefully abused.

"They came here without a policy. They formulated none while here, and they went home without a policy."

He charged the Democrats with shouting "meaningless imprecations" and added that the Democrats had been so busy "poking about in the sideshows that they had missed seeing the elephants go by."

He described Adlai Stevenson as "somewhat confused."

"His address reporting his five-month tour from Burma to Bloomington with camera and cliche was splendidly phrased and splendidly free of any new thought or any fresh understanding of the great problems besetting the world," Summerfield said.

Replies to Truman.

Commenting on former President Truman's speech in which he charged that the G.O.P. was a "wrecking crew" in Washington Summerfield conceded that the Republicans have wrecked the Truman budget by cutting 14 billion dollars out of it and more wrecked the controls which, he said, the New Deal had stiflingly imposed on the nation's economy.

Summerfield said that under the Republicans paternalism in Government is being wiped out and "we have begun to give America less and less Government on the theory that the best-governed people are the least-governed people."

Cites G.O.P. Record.

He defended the Republicans record as to fulfillment of the party's campaign pledges, listing these as some of the more important accomplishments:

A consistent foreign policy of firmness and clarity.

A truce in the Korean war.

Greater security against military attack.

A cut in the cost of Government which eventually will lead to a balanced national Government and a lowering of taxes.

Abolition of Government controls.

A crackdown on the "weak-kneed, soft-headed toleration" of subversive activities within the country.

Another speaker at yesterday's meetings, Morton W. Hollingsworth, state chairman of Illinois, stated that the biggest job for the Republicans was to give President Eisenhower a working majority in Congress in the 1954 congressional elections.

The Republicans have only a majority of five in the House of Representatives, Hollingsworth said, and will be at a 48-to-47 disadvantage in the Senate if a Democrat is named as Senator from Ohio to succeed the late Robert A. Taft.

He expressed confidence that Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, a Democrat, will be defeated in next year's election.

He said that one of the things which will lead to Douglas's defeat is "inconsistency."

"He has been all over the map, even within his own party," Hollingsworth said.

Hollingsworth called for reduction of taxes as an incentive for voters to go along with the Republicans in the 1954 congressional elections.

Not all of the critical words which the Republican women heard here yesterday were reserved for Democrats. Some were liberally directed by Republican women at other Republican women.

A major flareup occurred in the legislative conference over the controversial amendment sponsored by Senator Bricker of Ohio which would limit the treaty making authority of the President. This development occurred after women seeking signatures indorsing the Bricker resolution were directed to take their tables out of the lobby of the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton hotel, where the conference is being held.

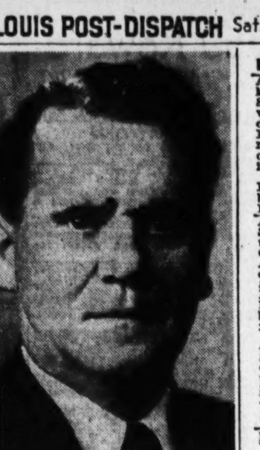

'One World' Faction.

The dispute was complicated by the presence of other women who were distributing literature advocating the so-called "one world" theory.

Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee, was in the middle of the controversy and tried to resolve it by asking the women to take their problem into different conference sessions.

Advocates of the Bricker resolution then became vocal in the legislative conference. Describing the proposed legislation as the most important legislation of the current period and the key to Republican success at the 1954 congressional elections.

Two representatives in Congress, Maurgerite Stitt Church of Illinois, and Ruth Thompson of Michigan, were present during the debate but declined to comment on the Bricker resolution on the ground that it is not yet before Congress.

Changing Attitude

Best War Memorial Is Lasting Peace

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP).

THE nature of war is changing. In the old days wars often paid for themselves, particularly as far as the victors were concerned. They yielded a handsome profit in terms of looting, land and ransom, as well as in glory.

HAL BOYLE

Today wars are fought on the instalment plan. Win or lose, a nation gets its biggest bill after peace comes — not while the guns are flaming. It costs more to clean up the battlefields than it did to redden them.

The expense goes on for generations. Starting certainly by the time of the Civil War, America has found it more costly to pay off its after obligations of a war than it did to foot the bills for the actual fighting.

★ ★ ★

IN THE FINAL BOOKKEEPING of any war one of the expense items is the memorials erected to commemorate it. As people think less of war in terms of glory, their attitude toward best how to honor their heroes is changing.

The old idea was to collect as big a sum of money as possible and put up as big a monument as possible, surmounted by a huge symbolic figure or a metal general rigid on a rampant metal horse.

After both the Civil War and the first World War, communities tried to outdo each other in this respect. It was all done in the name of grateful patriotism. A few of these memorials were lovely. But many were sculptural atrocities at the time, and now—although they are the joyful perches of pigeons—many residents regard them wryly as civic eyesores.

★ ★ ★

BUT AT BEST they were only something to look at. They had no human use. And are such passive hunks of metal and marble really the best way to remember the sacrifices of the fallen?

Many communities today don't think so. The trend after World War II was toward memorials that spelled an improvement and betterment of a way of life the local boys had died to preserve —a new athletic field, high school, art gallery, library, bridge or a plaque bearing the names of the honored dead. What better tribute can a town pay to the memory of its heroes than to build something to make it a better town?

★ ★ ★

AND WHAT BETTER MONUMENT could the American Fifth Army have than the one it erected to commemorate its deadly landing 10 years ago on the beaches below Salerno—a nursery and welfare center for Italian children? What finer testimony of what its victory there stands for?

The men who fought there often felt they were in "The Forgotten War." But the Italian people now have fresh cause to remember them gratefully for a long time.

★ ★ ★

WHAT KIND OF MEMORIALS will be built to keep alive the memory of the sacrifices of those who died in the Korean war? It is doubtful whether there will be many erected in this country. But the funds America will pour into Korea for the rebuilding of that shattered land are the truest kind of remembrance—out of hate something better.

But the best war memorial is a lasting peace. And if a real peace could emerge from Korea, the world will enjoy the noblest memorial of its history.

Thousandth Mark

By Christopher Billopp

PASSING a thousandth mark in the family car's mileage is a momentous event. It is worthy of celebration. This is true no matter whether the mark is 10,000, 20,000 or 50,000.

One of the more observant members of the family will note around 985 or 990 or 995 that the mark is approaching and warns the others to be prepared.

The celebration will take on the nature of New Year's Eve. As the last miles are ticked off the family will keep its eyes on the meter. The emotion and suspense will increase with the registering of each tenth of a mile.

Then as the zeroes come into alignment there will be loud cheers and slappings on the back and congratulations. Compliments will be paid to the old car for the way she is holding up. Everybody will be glad that, after all, Dad resisted the pressure to trade it in. Those members of the family who exerted the pressure will feel ashamed.

There will be recollections of when and where a previous thousandth mark celebration was held. That will provoke hot arguments, since the recollections will differ. Some will insist that it was during last summer's vacation. Others will maintain as stoutly that it was in the heart of winter when snow was on the ground.

When all is said and done there will be general agreement that, in spite of the miles traveled, there is a lot of life in the old car yet. Passing the thousandth mark will have been a momentous occasion in which a good time will have been had by all.

How sad it is, therefore, when, after the warning of an approach has been given, the hazards of traffic, spectacular views and historic landmarks take the mind off the thousandth mark and by the time it is on again the thousandth mark, slyly and silently, has passed!

Some Clouds Likely for Sunday

Weather conditions as of 1:30 a.m., C.D.T., Sept. 19. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

Cloudiness in the St. Louis area as the cold front passed prevented the mercury from falling to the minimum predicted for today by the Weather Bureau here. However, the low of 67 at 5 a.m. was seven degrees cooler than yesterday morning.

Partly cloudy skies here through tomorrow with a likelihood of occasional showers or thundershowers were forecast. Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren predicted temperatures near 80 today with a low tomorrow morning of about 55 and an afternoon high in the low 80s.

Missouri cities had a wide range of temperature readings this morning as a result of the moving cold front. Minimums varied from 44 at St. Joseph to 67 here and at Malden. The maximum of 95 in downtown St. Louis yesterday made the seventy-fourth day this year with temperatures of 90 or more degrees.

Rain was general yesterday over Missouri with light to moderate falls recorded. Heaviest in the nation was 2.38 inches at Miami. At Chicago there was one inch, and .19 of an inch fell in downtown St. Louis.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms are forecast for tonight in New England, the middle Atlantic states, the Tennessee Valley area, Plains states and Gulf coast states, including Texas and Florida, as shown by the map at left.

The high pressure area in the central Plains is expected to dissipated by tomorrow, Wahlgren said. A warm front should extend tomorrow from central Iowa east of Springfield, Mo., to Louisiana and curve to New Orleans. The cold front will run from east central Iowa through southwest Kansas to southern Colorado.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha:

WE are a couple who work hard every day in the week except Sunday. It is our only day to rest, yet we must be disturbed by our neighbors' radio early every Sunday morning. I enjoy music and the news but I don't think anyone else should be bothered by having to listen to the programs one person enjoys. How can we stop this without an argument.

DISGUSTED WORKER.

The first try should be with the people themselves. It is unlikely that they realize they are disturbing anyone, and it is a rare individual — fortunately — who really wants to make his neighbors miserable. Ask your neighbors pleasantly and without any trace of criticism if they couldn't turn down the radio on Sunday morning, pointing out that they probably are unaware that the sound carries so far. If they are un-co-operative, you can certainly go to the landlord and ask that he intercede for you.

Dear Martha:

THERE IS A GIRL in my neighborhood whom my mother disapproves of. She does not like for me to go out with her and I don't especially want to, but the girl is constantly asking me to go. I don't know what to give for an excuse. I am afraid she will ruin my friendship with others by calling me an old stick-in-the-mud. I do not want to be like her at all as she isn't liked by other mothers and fathers very well. What do you suggest I do to get rid of her? WORRIED.

Far better to be called an old stick-in-the-mud than to get a bad reputation by running with the wrong crowd. But I doubt that either will happen. If your mother has good reason why she doesn't want you to go with this girl, respect her wishes. You don't have to tell her why you can't accept her invitations. Just tell her kindly and pleasantly that you are unable to go. However, don't discuss her with others in the crowd. Even if the adults feel she is the wrong kind of companion, don't hurt her needlessly by gossiping about her.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO Problem: Your mother and you can decide whether this boy would feel out of place with the younger boys and girls. It seems to me that he would feel a little awkward, unless he runs around with a crowd of younger people.

Is your club planning an anniversary party? Martha Carr's leaflet on gay nineties party will give you suggestions on entertainment. Just inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Inviting Trouble

By Glen R. Shepherd, M.D.

JUST by keeping your elbows and forearms inside the car or bus, you can prevent the tragedy of a badly smashed elbow or an amputation of your arm.

Every time you rest your arm on the lowered car window so that your elbow sticks out for easy clipping by another car, you are inviting trouble. Every time your children dangle their arms out of bus or car windows, they are in danger of having those arms torn off or mangled.

Broken arms can be set and the stumps of torn-off arms cleaned up by doctors. But it's better to avoid this trouble, especially when prevention is so easy.

Though most accidents are theoretically avoidable, this arm injury really is. Just train your children to keep their hands, elbows and arms inside any vehicle, always. And train yourself to use the arm rest inside the car door rather than the window opening for an arm rest.

★ ★ ★

AFTER SEEING several smashed elbows and a torn-off arm from this sort of injury, Dr. Augustin S. Carswell of Augusta, Ga., decided to check on driving habits. While driving on a main highway for a 100-mile stretch, he saw that 87 per cent of the drivers drove with their left arms sticking out from the car window. In one fourth of the cars having children, the kids were waving their hands or arms out of the window.

When an elbow is smashed by a passing car, it is usually the most disabling injury, even when other injuries occur. Hospitalization for treatment of these arm and elbow injuries requires from a few days to eight weeks. The more severe elbow and arm injuries require six to eight weeks in the hospital.

It's silly to invite that kind of expense and layoff from work when all you have to do to prevent it is keeping your arms and elbows inside the car.

★ ★ ★

SOMETIMES THESE INJURIES take a lot longer than two months to repair. One 22-year-old man had his left elbow smashed in May 1950 when another car sideswiped him. It was a compound fracture. Complications occurred from infection of the bone. Finally, the forearm had to be opened surgically for a bone graft and fixation with metal pins. It wasn't until February 1952 that he entirely recovered.

A 42-year-old man was driving with his left arm out of his car window when he struck a truck. His arm was sheared off above the elbow.

Some people never learn. One 25-year-old man had his left elbow completely smashed in an auto accident while driving with his elbow out of the car window. His elbow joint could not be repaired, though a lot of surgery was done on it. He has been wearing a cast since the injury in August 1950. Despite all his injury and disability, he was recently observed driving his car with his left arm in its cast sticking out of the car window.

The basic trouble is that each of us thinks it can never happen to us. Such injuries always afflict the other person, you think. That sort of thinking also encourages jaywalking, speeding, overeating to obesity and other dangerous acts. We each lead a charmed life, we think, immune to the diseases, dangers and illnesses we read about.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A GIRL tells me: I have a perfume allergy and whether imaginary or not, when I come in contact with the fragrance, I am made very uncomfortable and break out in a rash. The company for which I work just recently hired a new girl and she is in the same office as I am. She is a lovely person but she uses a very heavy perfume and a large quantity of it and it really makes me ill. I hate to be unpleasant but something has to be done as it is affecting by work. Can you offer a tactful solution to this problem?

The only thing to do is to tell her exactly what you have told me and hope that she will be willing to consider your affliction and not use perfume in the office.

Highlights of Home Fashion Trends

By Elizabeth Hillyer

NEXT Thursday begins Home Fashion Time, Sept. 24-Oct. 3, when more than 600 cities put on the biggest home fashion show of the year.

New designs will be shown for the first time, dramatic displays and special events are planned, the most of everything new will be ready to make home fashion history.

FURNITURE.

PREDOMINANT STYLES: Traditional furniture will be more emphasized, especially formal eighteenth century to include Regency, Empire, Italian Directoire and Louis XVI.

This new furniture, along with Early American and French Provincial adds new features to fit today's living and steps up its performance. Changes in the less formal period styles are often so great that there is almost as much that is contemporary about it as there is traditional. The most that is new can be classed as contemporary, from advanced modern, which continues to grow less extreme, through outdoor furniture for both outdoor and indoor use, to contemporary which has definite period flavor.

The Far East, particularly Japan, well suited to today's homes, influences furniture and all home furnishings and decoration.

★ ★ ★

DESIGN: Fit to smaller rooms and double or triple duty for a single piece of furniture is the top success of today's design, although exceptional good looks for every sort of furniture will be noted.

Minimum upholstery, light frames and easy moveability are important features, and much furniture is designed to be free-standing.

★ ★ ★

MATERIALS: Grouping mixed pieces made of different kinds of wood and more than one kind of wood is often used in the same piece of furniture. Many kinds of woods are used.

Brass, wicker, woven cane, leather, marble and wrought iron are important and there are many combinations of these, some shown for the first time,—leather with wrought iron, for example, and leather is also shown with a high style revival of chrome.

More synthetic materials are shown for damage-proof table tops and as cabinet fronts.

★ ★ ★

TYPES OF PIECES OF FURNITURE: The sofa that's a bed by night and the bed that's a sofa by day grow more numerous and handsome.

Small, light chairs continue to be trendmakers widely popular for their use all over the house.

There are more cabinets this season which hide away dining tables (upper right).

★ ★ ★

Casement cloths increase and are heavier, less open. Many patterns are especially light and airy for curtains and draperies, others are small and bright in color, one-color patterns are often seen and tweedy mixtures continue to be favored.

Many fabrics are designed for both slipcover and drapery duty. Synthetic fabrics make news with new textures and plastic yarns are woven with other materials.

★ ★ ★

FLOOR COVERINGS. THE TUFTING method of making floor coverings brings the biggest changes of the season. Tufting machines are now widely used and have begun to make wool carpet and two-level pile cottons.

More modern design is seen in carpet and tweed-like mixtures gain. High fashion scatter rugs make an appearance. Synthetics increase both in hard surface floor coverings, such as vinyl tile, and in carpet and rugs with carpet rayon the leader. Imports bring nylon prices down.

★ ★ ★

LIGHTING. The coming season will show great advances for modern styling.

Many manufacturers who never departed from the traditional before now turn to the contemporary. Various types of lamps are designed to go together and will be shown for the complete lighting of a room.

Floor lamps will be more popular and ceiling fixtures, pinup, hook-on and accent lamps challenge the popularity of the table lamp.

The oriental influence is seen and brass, often in new uses with wood, is the great new favorite of materials.

My Day

Little Room for Division

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

I LISTENED to and watched Adlai Stevenson's speech on TV Tuesday evening and I thought it a courageous and temperate speech. He says that the Democratic party has been willing to help President Eisenhower to achieve good results in his foreign policy and I hope that co-operation can continue, for it seems to me that in the world there is very little room for party divisions on stands that the United States should take.

Mrs. Roosevelt

I liked particularly his attitude which stressed the fact that peace was nothing which could be accomplished by one single act. The leadership of the United States would require continuous watchfulness, willingness to negotiate, and flexibility. Clearly, Stevenson recognizes the fact that we cannot make pronouncements and lay down rules for the future. We can say what we think is right to do at the present time, but we must be wise enough to realize that time and circumstances change conditions and that we may have to take new attitudes as new situations develop.

★ ★ ★

IT IS PARTICULARLY NECESSARY that the United States should always be ready and willing to sit down at a conference table.

Basically the success of the United Nations depends upon the willingness of all nations to do just this, so it is important that we, one of the leading nations, should give the example of the attitude of mind which makes negotiation possible. It is easy to say that there must not be any compromise on principles and then to consider every question a question of principle. This is a mistake and will lead us nowhere in final results.

★ ★ ★

I WAS VERY GLAD to see that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was sending Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana to look over the situation in Indo-china and the Near East. I have great confidence in the Senator's powers of observation and in his essential fairness of appraisal and I think he will come back with a fund of knowledge and a fair appraisal of what he has seen and heard.

We cannot accept everything which is said to us or shown to us by those representing other nations on face value because there are always two sides to every question. We must appraise from our own point of view what is the fairest attitude to both parties in the dispute and this, I think, Senator Mansfield is well equipped to do. His report will certainly be helpful in what is a very complicated situation in a sorely troubled area of the world.

★ ★ ★

IN NEW YORK CITY the Democratic primary vote was won by Robert F. Wagner Jr. This is a real victory, I think, for the Democrats, for if he is elected, which I think he surely will be, we will have an honest administration in the city of New York.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

NORTH-SOUTH did comparatively well in the following deal, since they staved off an opposing slam at the cost of only 400 points—but they could have done much better.

East, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

	♠AQ109 ♥AK843 ♦A76 ♣Q
♠.. ♥QJ10965 ♦1042 ♣9762	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠754 ♥.. ♦KQJ8 ♣AK8543
	♠KJ8632 ♥72 ♦953 ♣J10	28

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♣	Pass	1♥	D'ble
2♣	2♠	Pass	4♠
D'ble	Pass	Pass	R'd'ble
Pass	Pass	Pass

West did not show much imagination or gumption when he passed over South's two spades and kept on passing right up to the finish. True, West had very few "points," but his distribution demanded a three-club call over two spades. East could have made six clubs without extending himself. (Incidentally, North's redouble was more than a little indiscreet, because both of the opponents should have "run.")

West did, however, redeem himself to some degree when, instead of opening his partner's club suit, he led the heart queen. The king was played from dummy, and East ruffed. Later, there was no way for South to avoid the loss of two diamonds, and so he had to pay a penalty of 400 points for down one.

In view of the bidding, South's first play, though admittedly "natural" was not shrewd. South could well afford to lose three tricks and still make his redoubled contract; therefore, the right play was to duck the heart queen in dummy and also to duck West's probable continuation of the heart jack. Then if West led a third heart, dummy should again duck while South ruffed, and after the trumps were safely drawn, South could use the A-K of hearts very nicely for the discard of two diamonds.

Delicious Dessert

Frosted Cupcakes

By Edith M. Barber

FROSTED CUPCAKES MAKE A DELICIOUS DESSERT, RICH AND CRUSTY.

THE term cupcake has an old-fashioned sound. It should; the recipe goes back to days before muffin pans were part of kitchen equipment. Even when they existed, my grandmother scorned them and continued to use cups without handles for baking.

Some of the cups had lost their handles through breakage. Others, I realize now, were relics of the days before these conveniences were attached to teacups and when tea was customarily cooled in the saucer. Today, I regret that these antique cups, which would be valuable today, lost their glaze and eventually cracked with the oven treatment.

Cupcakes were often made as a last-minute dessert or to take to a picnic. We much preferred them to Saturday's rich layer cake which, of course, could not be cut until Sunday. We loved the crustiness of the little cakes and, for this reason, preferred my mother's use of tin muffin pans.

Today, we are quite likely to use aluminum pans that will remain bright. Tin muffin pans were never bright, as experience showed that they had to be tempered after greasing if sticking were to be avoided. In fact, my mother preferred to give them a dry rub rather than wash them unless crumbs remaining in the pan were stubborn.

My grandmother's favorite cupcake recipe, which came from Eastern Pennsylvania, was a butter type cake. Other shortening may, of course, be used nowadays. The one my mother liked best was even quicker to mix and bake. The richness was contributed by the nuts, as the recipe does not call for shortening.

Grandmother's Cupcakes.

Ingredients: One and three-fourths cups sifted flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third cup shortening, one and one-fourth cups brown sugar, one egg, three-fourths cup milk, one teaspoon vanilla extract, one-fourth cup chopped nuts.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk and vanilla extract. Stir in nuts. Spoon batter into greased or paper-lined muffin cups. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. When cool, frost with lemon flavored frosting. Yield: 16 cupcakes.

Mother's Cupcakes.

Two eggs, slightly beaten; one cup brown sugar, one-half cup flour, one-third teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder, one cup nut meats, cut in small pieces, 18 whole nuts.

Combine all ingredients, except the whole nuts, and blend well. Fill small greased tins two-thirds full of mixture and place whole nut meat on each cupcake. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Yield: 18 cupcakes.

Weekly Report On Public Health

By J. Earl Smith, M.D.

St. Louis Health Commissioner

A HEALTH department, like a jigsaw puzzle, is made up of many parts, all of which fit together to give the services that help to prevent disease and disability, prolong life, and assure a clean, healthy community.

Many of us aren't even aware of some of these services or of the people whose daily job means that everything we do and every place we go is safer and better for us.

★ ★ ★

THE PUBLIC HEALTH SANITARIAN; for instance, is the man who guards our food, the sanitary conditions surrounding our homes, our working conditions, and even our swimming pools.

Because of these sanitarians St. Louisans can choose a restaurant with assurance, just by glancing at the grade sticker on the door. We know that restaurant is routinely inspected by persons well-qualified by experience and training in the sanitary standards necessary to protect food from contamination.

Sanitarians also help to supervise the production and delivery of milk in St. Louis.

Throughout the year, sanitarians investigate the many thousands of complaints from citizens that come to the Health Division. These complaints deal with a wide variety of environmental sanitation problems such as inadequate heat; accumulations of refuse; insanitary housing conditions; rodent, insect and other vermin infestations; and defective plumbing.

Theirs is not necessarily a "police" kind of action. The sanitarian believes that most people want to live in healthy, clean surroundings. He feels that it is his job to help you, your landlord, your boss, or your butcher to correct conditions that might be harmful to your health. He knows, too, that many community environmental problems can be worked out or avoided through education so he strives to put health education into action by teaching the facts of good environmental sanitation in advance.

★ ★ ★

THE SANITARIANS in your Health Division number little more than 100, and they are hard pressed to meet the demands on their time.

Yet in spite of this, last year they took on another activity—a mosquito control program to seek out and eliminate mosquito sites.

You may not recognize the sanitarian when you pass him on the street but you can be sure that his work touches on the lives of each and every one of us many times a day.

Silk Brocades

Silk brocades in pastel colors and in dark jewel tones are highlighted among the handsome materials being used for late-day and evening dresses. Two-tone effects are attractive, especially when the tones are of one major color. Pinkish red and garnet, for example, are being used together. A light blue and a bright blue also are noteworthy. A metallic emphasis is seen in the combination of gold shade with white, or silver with dark gray.

TODAY'S PATTERNS

No. 221

TO "spice" your fall wardrobe, a magical new chemise dress with its own gay hat which you can whip up in no time flat. The soft and slimming lines are accented by the saddle stitching trim if you prefer; the fact that the collar is cut in one with the dress front means a minimum of sewing time too. Make your collar button at the throat, or let it be worn open. Set-in short or three-quarter sleeves for your choice.

Fabric suggestions: Wool jersey, gabardine, light-weight flannels, rayons and cottons-with-the-wool look, rayon jerseys, corduroy or failles.

Star Pattern No. 221 comes in sizes 9, 11, 13, 15, 17.

Material requirements: Size 13, dress with three-quarter sleeves takes 3⅞ yards of 39-inch fabric or 2¾ yards of 54-inch. The short-sleeved style uses 3½ yards of 39-inch. The hat (cut in one size) takes ⅜ yards of 39-inch material.

For the Star Pattern No. 221 shown above, send 50 cents in coin to Star Pattern Department, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Box 350, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N.Y.

RETIRED SURGEON STARTS ON 5-YEAR CRUISE OF WORLD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19 (UP) — The 50-foot schooner Landfall II headed for Mexico and points south today on the first leg of a five-year dream cruise around the world.

Landfall sailed through the Golden Gate yesterday, culminating 35 years of planning by Dr. W. F. Holcomb, Oakland, Calif., surgeon who retired in order to make the trip.

Dr. Holcomb plans to take his ship and its three-"man" crew down the California coast to the Cedras island off Lower California, then on to New Zealand and Australia.

The crew included his wife, Marilyn; Rey Johnsson, 21-year-old pre-law student at the University of California, and Dr. Dean Smith of Binghamton, N.Y.

Dr. Holcomb said the party should be in the Mediterranean and on its way to Europe by the summer of 1955, he said.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

John Adkinson Jr., 1131 Meyer avenue, University City, was found shot to death today on the shore of the Meramec river at Times Beach, olice reported. A .22 caliber pistol was under his right hand.

Deputy Sheriff Joseph Feco said a note addressed to Adkison's wife, Louise, complained about business. Adkison, who was lying on a blanket, was general manager of Plastics Molding Co., 4211 North Broadway.

Funeral services for Mrs. Charles F. Keebaugh, wife of the president of an advertising display firm bearing his name, will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Lupton undertaking establishment, 7233 Delmar boulevard, with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mrs. Keebaugh, 55 years old, died of cancer yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital. She lived at 7282 Northmoor drive, University City. A descendant of a pioneer St. Louis family, she was the granddaughter of Francis P. Corby, head of the firm which supplied material for the construction of Eads bridge. Her maternal grandfather was H. G. Doyle, president of the company which built City Hospital and many office buildings. One of her ancestors was Joseph Robidoux, who is known as the founder of St. Joseph, Mo.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jane Bryan; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Corby, and a sister, Mrs. Jeanne Coudy.

BELLEVILLE MAYOR NAMED WINNER IN BALLOT RECOUNT

Incumbent Mayor H. V. Calhoun was declared winner of the Belleville mayoral election contest last April by Circuit Judge R. W. Griffith yesterday after a recount of ballots gave Calhoun a margin of 44 votes.

The election was contested by George Glakemeier Jr., former alderman who opposed Calhoun. The official tabulation last April gave Calhoun a majority of 70 votes. On the recount Calhoun received 5947 votes and Glakemeier 5903.

Attorneys representing Glakemeier said they may appeal Judge Griffith's decision. No charges of fraud were made, but the defeated candidate contended that the ignorance of election officials resulted in the discarding of many disputed ballots as improperly marked.

BODY FOUND IN BURNED SHED

The charred body of a man was found early today in the ashes of a shed destroyed by fire at the rear of 1829 Biddle street. Residents of the block, some of whom said they heard screams coming from the burning structure, were unable to identify the body.

Two adjoining sheds were burned down before firemen could check the blaze, which began shortly before midnight.

WIDE AND IRREGULAR PRICE RANGES IN LIVESTOCK TRADE

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Sept. 19 (USDA weekly review of the livestock market):

Substantially increased supplies of cattle and calves saw average choice and prime steers and heifers hold steady in week ended Friday; other grades 50c or more lower, while cows recovered early weakness to close steady. Bulls finished 50c higher. Vealers and calves were extremely irregular, some high choice and prime vealers $3@5 up, with other grades of vealers and slaughter calves weak to $3 lower. Prime 1131 and 1018-lb. steers brought $27.50 and 1018-lb. mixed steers and heifers $27.75, excluding a few club calves that went as high as $29.50. Most choice and prime steers and heifers cleared at $23@27. Good and choice $18@22.50, commercial and good $14@17.50 and utility and commercial $10@13.50. Moderate numbers common to choice quality replacement steers brought $9@18. Commercial cows reached $13.50, most utility and commercial $10.50@13 with canner and cutter cows $7@10. Utility and commercial bulls cleared $11@13, some reaching $13.50 late, while canner and cutter bulls $8@11. Limited numbers prime vealers reached $28. Good and choice largely $17@25, utility and commercial $10@16. Good and choice slaughter calves $14@18, utility and commercial $9@13, culls $5@9.

Barrows and gilts, 190 lbs. up, finished weak to 25c lower than a week ago, lighter weights 50c@$1.25 higher and sows 25@75c higher. Top prices ranged from $25.25@25.75, the extreme top Friday $25.50 but few sales that day above $25.10. Sows sold up to $24.50, highest since October 1948, but closed at $24 down. For the week, bulk of 200 to 250 lbs. sold at $25@25.60; 260 to 300 lbs., $24@25.25; 170 to 190 lbs., $24@25.25; 150 to 170 lbs., $22.50@24.50; sows, 400 lbs. down, $22.50@24.25 and heavier sows $20.50@22.75.

Trading in spring lambs in week ended Friday was erratic. Prices advanced $1.50 to mostly $2 the first two days but later retraced most all of the improvement, finally closing only 50c net higher. Top, which was $22 on Tuesday was $20.50 late. The bearish performance after Tuesday reflected sharply increased receipts for the week, both locally and for 12 markets. Quality of lambs showed noticeable improvement. Over 80 per cent of all receipts were good to prime from $17@21.50, with more than half $20@21.50 and fully a fourth at one price of $20. About a third were poorly finished springers of cull to good grade from $12@18. Several lots of good and choice yearlings brought $16.50@18.50; most slaughter ewes $3@4.50.

ST. LOUIS LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE, Sept. 19—Only 55 head of hogs arrived today, no cattle, calves or sheep. The hogs were carried over for Monday's market.

LIVESTOCK ELSEWHERE

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (INS)—Livestock values closed irregular at midwest markets the past week.

Receipts were much heavier than a week ago. Cattle especially were plentiful and receipts at 12 markets totaled 316,000, the largest in seven years. Despite the heavy run, cattle prices held up well at all markets.

The big supply of cattle, which compared with 207,700 in the preceding holiday week and 258,700 in the corresponding week a year ago, was the largest since October 1946 when cattlemen rushed their stock to market to beat the reinstatement of ceiling prices.

Further sharp gains in wholesale prices of dressed beef, which was in smaller supply because of the previous week's cut in slaughtering operations due to Labor day and the Jewish religious holidays, were a supporting influence in the trade on live cattle, according to the Department of Agriculture.

The top on prime fed steers was $30.25, reached at Chicago, the highest since February. High-choice fed steers and yearlings were reported up to $27, but most of the choice offerings sold from $23 to $26. Commercial and good grades brought mostly $16 to $22.50.

Hogs generally were 25 to 50 cents higher for the week, but a few markets reported weak to lower prices. At the close of the trade on Friday, choice 190 to 250-pound hogs sold mostly from $25 to $25.75. Butchers weighing 160 to 190 pounds brought from $22.50 to $25.25.

The week's top prices on prime lambs ranged from $21.50 to $22 at a majority of the markets, but reached above $22 at one or two eastern cornbelt points. At the close of the week, choice to prime offerings were quotable mostly from $19.50 to $20.50.

STOCKS REACT FROM 16-MONTH LOW LEVEL

Small Net Loss for Week on Turnover of 9,467,510 Shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (UP)—Stocks began the past week on an active decline and ended it on a dull one. Sandwiched between, a rally restored the Monday losses—losses that carried the industrial average to a new low since July 20, 1951; railroad, since April 17, 1952; utility, since last June 25, and general average, since March 3, 1952.

Monday's volume ran to 2,550,000 shares and Tuesday's to 2,850,000, most since last April 6. Tuesday's market moved up and down and finally finished on a gain. Rising prices Wednesday and Thursday erased the Monday decline. Then the list turned down.

Sell-Off Lacks Vigor.

The sell-off late in the week lacked vigor, however, and was said to reflect neglect rather than sales pressure, although there were many weak spots in rails, oils, motors, tires and special issues.

There was nothing outstanding in the news to account for the decline or the recovery. The selling was a carry-over of last week's weakness. It reflected depression talk which has been belittled by economists but not by those with market profits.

One thing the market decline has done is to increase the number of bears in the financial district. In the month ended Sept. 15, the Stock Exchange reported the short interest had risen to 1,935,958 shares, largest short total since March 15, 1952 and compared with 1,815,492 shares on Aug. 14.

Heaviest short interest centered on Missouri-Kansas-Texas, Baltimore & Ohio, Chrysler, General Motors, Houston Lighting, New York Central, and New Haven Railroad.

Three-Day Rally.

The three-day rally this week afforded time for putting out of more short accounts. It is difficult to sell the market short on a decline. A short sale must be made on an up-tick under a rule designed to prevent bear raiding of the market.

Railroad shares led both declines and they were the top performers in the intervening rallies. Oils followed the rails. Motors had their soft spots with Hudson setting a new low on dividend omission. Studebaker met new selling on Friday and the other members of the automobile division turned weak.

In the period from January 1 to the close on Monday, it was estimated that the market had fallen by $13,000,000,000 in quoted valuation of all listed shares. That was about one-quarter of the rise from Jan. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1952.

Jump In Sales.

The market was supposed to have given a bear market signal on Aug. 31. However, there still are many analysts who insist the decline so far has been nothing more than a correction of a broad upward movement which will be resumed before the year-end.

Some encouragement was taken from a statement by Treasury Secretary Humphrey that tax cuts will go through as scheduled on Jan. 1. But the market paid only passing attention to it. Government bonds were boosted by anticipation of a further credit easing here following cuts in discount rates by the banks of England and France.

Sales for the week amounted to 9,467,510 shares, most since the week ended April 11. This total contrasted with 4,537,655 shares last week.

The Dow-Jones averages closed the week slightly lower: industrial, off 93 cents; railroad, off 96 cents; utility, 65 cents and 65 stocks, 74 cents. Had it not been for the Friday decline the market would have been about unchanged on the week.

CHAPTER TWENTY.

MRS. SPENCER closed the door before she inquired "What do you mean, Sally? What's happened?"

"I've just been put in my place by Mrs. Wilmington," the girl cried hysterically.

Her mother's calmness surprised Sally. "I don't see what you expect to accomplish," Sally continued, "but all I want is to get as far as possible from this house."

"It's going to take time, Sally. You must be patient. You're younger than I am and I realize it's harder on you than it is on me but SHE's gone to Malibu for the weekend and when she comes back things may be different."

"I don't see why they should be," Sally sighed, "unless you mean she may come back engaged to Peter."

"That isn't what I meant," Margaret said as if possessing secret information. "We won't have much to do while she's away. Mr. Wilmington is the only one I'll have to cook for, and goodness knows he's no bother. Linda is going to a friend's and Tony has been given a couple of days off."

* * *

SALLY was too absorbed in her own problem to attach any significance to her mother's remark, or observe the sly satisfaction on the older woman's face.

"It will be nice to have the house to ourselves," Sally admitted. "Grandfather won't be any trouble."

Margaret glanced over her shoulder like a skittish horse. "Don't call him that, Sally. Someone might hear you."

"It just slipped out. I always think of him that way."

"Then you better change your thinking," Margaret advised.

Sally scarcely heard her. She was remembering Peter's suggestion that she write a story about her experiences as a maid. She had told him she would have to think it over but suddenly she decided to do it. And she would tell the truth which he had said was not necessary but which Sally considered more interesting than fiction.

Stimulated by this idea Sally sought the privacy of the patio. She would use her leisure hours this weekend to construct a plot and her mind was already busy jotting down the sequence of events up to the present.

Suddenly she heard the sound of Tony's door opening. The windows had been closed and the shades drawn when Sally came out. Now she heard a smothered giggle and the patter of light feet which could belong to no one but Linda.

"She's been telling him goodby before she goes to her friends," Sally decided. But a few moments later she heard Tony closing the door of his apartment and taking the little car out of the garage. At the same time there came the sound of Linda's voice from the kitchen window.

Sally could not hear her mother's reply but evidently Linda kissed her. "And don't forget your promise," the girl cried. "Remember I'm counting on you to teach me how to cook."

* * *

TOO astonished to move Sally sat in the darkness of the unlighted patio, listening as Linda left the house and climbed into the car beside Tony. There was no question in Sally's mind now. They were eloping and her mother, who had vowed revenge on Linda's mother, had aided and abetted them.

But when she returned to the house Margaret said nothing. Even when Sally accused her Margaret would not admit it.

"I know nothing about their plans," she insisted. "And I don't want to know. If Tony marries her no one can say it's my fault."

Neither of them realized that the real responsibility rested upon a kindly old gentleman who looked like Santa Claus except he wore no beard. As the car rolled down the driveway Linda's grandfather, in his lonely master bedroom, chuckled.

The weekend passed uneventfully and not until Sunday night was there any news. But when Nympha Ortega de Wilmington and Peter reached home they found a telegram which had just been delivered. The widow read it and held it out to Peter in a gesture of despair.

"It's what I was afraid of! Linda's eloped with the chauffeur. That's what comes of treating servants as if they were equals. They were married in Las Vegas. Now what am I going to do?"

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

A LETTER with a question about the moon has come to me from Robert McKendrick, who writes:

"Not being able to sleep last night, I went out on my front porch and watched the moon slowly sink below the horizon. I said to myself, 'Where did that moon come from?'

"I knew that the moon did not come here from outer space and say to the earth, "Hello, big boy! Do you mind if I bobble around you for a few million years and light up your nights?'

"It is my belief that the moons which go around various planets were flung into space from those planets. I think that our moon came from the earth when the earth was soft, and that the Pacific Ocean is the hole which is left.

"Maybe you have already dealt with this subject, Uncle Ray, but I would be very much interested to read what you may have to say."

* * *

I WROTE BRIEFLY about the origin of the moon several years ago, but said nothing about the Pacific Ocean possibly being the hole left when (and if) the moon was flung off as a chunk from the earth.

Many astronomers favor the theory that the moon was a part of the earth. They believe that vast ages have passed since the moon was thrown into space, and that the earth was in a half-molten condition when this happened.

WE MAY BE TEMPTED to suggest that the Pacific Ocean was the place from which a huge chunk of the earth went speeding outward, but let us remember this fact:

Although the Pacific Ocean is wider than the moon, it is less than seven miles deep at the deepest place known. To hold the moon, the ocean would need to be several hundred times as deep as it is.

Those who believe that the moon was flung from the Pacific area say that the half-molten material of the earth (perhaps as thick as molasses) filled in most of the hole which was left. They regard the bed of the Pacific Ocean as the almost healed "wound" which was left after the filling kept up until the earth's crust became solid.
